

Princess Margaret Has Son Both Doing Well, Is 5th in Line

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret gave birth to a son today and her husband said she was thrilled and delighted.

First to see the baby—after the doctors and nurses—was the father, the Earl of Snowdon, the former society photographer Antony Armstrong-Jones.

Weight Not Given
Coming from the royal maternity suite in Clarence House, he exclaimed to a member of the household: "The princess and I are absolutely thrilled and delighted."

His son—fifth in line to the British throne—was born Viscount Linley.

The infant's weight was not announced immediately.

An official announcement said "mother and son are doing well." The child was born in the room in Clarence House that Princess Margaret once used as a bedroom. She lived at the house, home of the queen mother, until her marriage May 6, 1960. Both she and her husband are 31.

Crowds Cheer Word
Crowds cheered outside Clarence House. The Scots Guards bagpipe band marched by filling the air with music.

The news of the birth were relayed quickly to Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip. Congratulations began pouring in.

Lord Evans 58, one of the five medical men who attended the princess, broke the news to the father.

Before the baby's birth at 10:45 a.m. Tony sent Margaret an armload of red roses. He repeated the order after the birth.

The news was flashed to the far corners of the world. It even went out to jet airliners in flight.

Four court physicians were in attendance at the birth: Sir John Peel, gynecologist to the queen and the princess; anesthetist Vernon Hall, Sir John Weir and Lord Evans.

In Labor Short Time
The princess apparently was in labor only a short time. Peel did not arrive at Clarence House until 8:15 a.m., two and a half hours before the birth.

Margaret's boy is fifth in line of succession to the British throne, behind Prince Charles, 13; Prince Andrew, who will be 2 in February; Princess Anne, 11, and Princess Margaret.

The baby automatically acquired the title of Viscount Linley, the secondary title given his father when the queen made him Earl of Snowdon on Oct. 3. Had Armstrong-Jones not been raised to the peerage, the baby would have been a commoner with no title, a rare thing in British history for one so high in the line of succession to the throne.

To Post Grounds Against Hunting At Three Schools

The Board of Education of the Kingston School District (Consolidated) in an unusual action Thursday night voted to post the grounds of the district's schools in Lake Katrine, Port Even and Tillson, against hunting.

Principal Edward R. Crosby at Lake Katrine School said that on the opening day of the game season some 13 hunters were observed firing away on the school grounds. He sent a custodian to caution the hunters that they were on school property and one of the nimrods gave the excuse that he didn't know it was a school, he thought it was a "factory."

After hearing the report of Dr. Earl F. Soper, superintendent of schools, the board voted as a precautionary measure to post the property at the three above mentioned school buildings.

Decision Reserved Today In Salapatis Job Lawsuit

Supreme Court Justice Ellis Staley today reserved decision on the petition of John C. Salapatis of 25 Harding Avenue in which he seeks promotion from his present position as assistant city engineer to that of public works superintendent.

Corporation Council William A. Kelly was given 20 days to file affidavits in support of his contention and Ward Ingalsbee, counsel for Salapatis, was given 10 days to reply.

Salapatis, counsel argued, had taken a promotional civil service examination and received a 93.6 per cent rating on the same day an open competitive examination was held which Charles J. Cole of 72 Summer Street took. He had been holding the position of superintendent of public works under an alleged provisional appointment for some three years.

Counsel for Salapatis charged this provisional appointment is illegal, and that the permanent appointment should have been made from a promotional list certified by the Municipal Civil Service Commission to the board of public works. Ingalsbee argued that the promotional list held preference over any open competitive list. He also held that the open competitive examination was illegally given because the rules for notice were not complied with.

Contention of Lawyers
In reply Corporation Council Kelly argued the appointment of Cole was proper and that the civil service regulations provide that there must be three names on a list certified for appointments and that Salapatis was the only one on the promotional list and therefore it was not a

Milk Co-op Plans Getting Supply to Dried Up N.Y.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—One of the largest dairy cooperatives in the New York-New Jersey milkshed rushed ahead today with plans to get milk into New York City, where a 10-day strike of Teamsters has dried up the city's supply.

Nearly 400 members of the Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative, in two separate meetings Thursday night, supported a move to form a farmer cavalcade to transport the milk.

"We are going to see this strike settled one way or another," said John York, executive secretary of Eastern. He said yesterday farmers would sell milk "from the street corners, if necessary."

A mass meeting tomorrow of the cooperative's 10,000 members was planned tentatively, an Eastern spokesman said. The site had not been determined.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York said last night the city would provide police protection to anyone who sought to transport milk into the city.

"I will see to it that milk will flow," Wagner said.

York said Wagner apparently had "been inspired by Eastern's statement earlier in the day" to assist in moving milk to New York City consumers.

He had accused Wagner of trying to stop people from buying milk, even when some have gotten through the Teamsters' blockade.

Wagner is investigating stores and persons who allegedly have sold bootlegged milk.

"Dairy farmers have the manpower, the will and courage to bust this strike wide open," York said. He said he realized that a farmer cavalcade could lead to violence if Teamsters sought to prevent the transportation of milk into the city.

At New Berlin, Chenango County, about 300 farmers agreed last night to back the cavalcade plan. In another meeting at Farmersville, Cattaraugus County, about 100 dairymen also voiced their support.

Sapio, deposed leader of Tammany Hall.

Wagner welcomed Kennedy's formal endorsement in a statement issued Thursday. He said, however, that he "was confident before the President came here that we would win on our own."

The mayor had been claiming previously that Kennedy was behind him.

Wagner's Republican opponent, Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, said: "Not even President Kennedy's effusive praise can reverse the tide that is flowing against the mayor under whose administration New York has become the worst governed city in America."

"I don't believe the President's hastily arranged drop-in visit can save Mr. Wagner," Kennedy's statement said in part.

"I want to take this opportunity to state with the utmost conviction my wholehearted support for the reelection of Mayor Robert F. Wagner."

Plans Democratic Vote
"His experience in coping with the problems of this great city cannot be matched. . . I have been impressed with his insight into the needs of this city."

DeSapio, one of the city Democratic organization leaders whom Wagner beat when he won reelection in the Sept. 7 primary election, said Thursday he would not vote for Wagner but would vote for other Democratic candidates.

Democratic State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast on Wednesday endorsed City comptroller Lawrence E. Gerosa, a Democrat and independent candidate for mayor.

Kiwanis to Honor 35-Year Officer For Good Record

Patrolman Edward J. Leonard, who is due to retire soon after 35 years of service on the local police department, will receive a special award from the Kiwanis Club at its Nov. 16 luncheon meeting.

The officer will be honored for his years of service and excellent record.

Attorney George A. Beck, chairman of the club's award committee, noting that in recent years the honor was bestowed upon the "patrolman of the year," said it was decided this year to give it in tribute to Officer Leonard for all the years of service he has given the city.

Other Two Honored
The Kiwanis honor in previous years was conferred upon Officers John Crespinio and Myer Levy for outstanding police work.

Officer Leonard joined the police force May 29, 1922. He had been employed before that by Schoonmaker & Connors, now Island Dock, Inc. A native of Allgerville, he has lived most of his life in Kingston. He was educated at School No. 2 and Ulster Academy. He was known in his younger years for his baseball prowess and he appeared many times in the lineup of police department teams. He had served several terms as president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association and for many years as a trustee of Rapid Hose Company. His brother, William J. Leonard, who died a few years ago, had served several years in the department as a lieutenant.

Police Commissioner Henry P. Elghemey, who is also a Kiwanis member, said he felt the selection of Officer Leonard was "an excellent choice." Because his record as a policeman was "outstanding and without the slightest blemish."

"Officer Leonard has been a gentleman and faithful servant on the force. He has been a friend to the public and is liked by young and old," he said.

Off-duty police department members are due to attend the luncheon to join in paying tribute to the patrolman.

City Water Down Seven Feet Now Emphasis Is Put On Area Drought

Cooper Lake, the city's main reservoir, is down some seven feet below spillway crest, Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, reported at Thursday night's water board meeting at which it was also noted that a report on the city's future water supply needs is expected in December.

Although not yet considered dangerously low, the reserve, at this point in the fall, emphasizes the general area drought which has depleted supplies elsewhere including those in privately owned wells.

Fall Rains Helped Before
A scan of records today with Superintendent Cloonan revealed that the Cooper Lake supply has been much lower several times even in the past decade, but each time late fall rains have been fully replenishing, and most of them brought the supply up by Christmas.

Low water was experienced several times in the 1950's, but the supply has been nearest top crest in the past three years, until this fall, than in many other past succession of years. Up until the summer it had been abundantly full since October, 1959. More careful use of water after installation of full meter service is considered largely responsible for this continued bountiful supply.

Worst in 1957
The fall of 1957 brought the city its worst water problem. When Cooper Lake then got as low as 17 feet below spillway level, the city moved to get water from New York's Ashokan Reservoir, but rains came in time to prevent the buying of water.

In other years the fall supply was dangerously low such as that of 1953 when it was more than 11 feet down in late October. By Christmas of that year, however, it was up near top crest again. More than seven inches of rain brought it back.

Again in 1954 and 1956 it was down some 10 feet, but late rains again brought it up by late December. Even in 1958 it got to low but rains in that year brought it to near capacity by Nov. 13. It came back in the big drought year of 1957 and was near top crest by Christmas.

To Report Next Month
The report on the general survey of the city's entire water system, Cloonan said, is expected to be given next month. It is being made by Clinton Bogert Engineers, of New York and will deal generally with the city's future water needs and proposed improvements plus possible new supply sources.

A previous survey by the same firm was made in 1925 and from that many improvements of the entire system were made every several years.

It was noted today that engineers estimated in 1925 that the city's population would be between 35,000 and 50,000 by 1950. This, barring the trend for suburban or rural life in the area, could have been a correct forecast.

Contracts Are Let For 2 Local Schools

The Board of Education of the Kingston School District (Consolidated) at its November meeting Thursday night awarded the contract for two new schools, a Junior High School in the Forstyth Park area and the Mary's Avenue Elementary School to I. and O. A. Slutzky, Inc. of Hunter, for a total of $2,328,449.

The Greene County firm plans to construct both school buildings simultaneously, moving crews from one job to the other as rapidly as their work is completed at the separate buildings.

Kias Says Fitness Program Here Is Meeting JFK Idea

A discussion of the physical education program in the Kingston School District (Consolidated) by J. Warren Kias, physical education director, highlighted the November session of the Board of Education Thursday night. Board members also approved purchases of two station wagons, eight microscopes, and a rotary snow plow. They approved a teacher resignation and three appointments as well as voting salary increases for some 15 teachers, in routine step rises.

Kias told the board that the District program is in line in theory and practice with President John F. Kennedy's ideas of physical fitness. The President has sent all schools a booklet on his thinking on the subject. Coach Kias explained that the local program is divided into three sections—A broad scope of physical education (gym classes); inter-mural and extra-mural (games and action beyond physical education); and inter-scholastic athletics. In answer

The vote by the board was 7 to 2 with two members, Bernard Singer and Howard L. Fox approving the Junior High project, but voting no on the Mary's Avenue School. Singer took exception to what he termed higher costs, suggesting the building wasn't absolutely necessary now; that the contract be held up and another location sought. Fox said he'd like further study of the Mary's Avenue School.

Separate contracts were approved for plumbing and heating and ventilating at the two schools, while an electrical contract was voted for the Junior High School with the Mary's Avenue contract to be determined.

The plumbing contract at the Junior High School with the Mary's Avenue contract to be determined.

The electrical contract at the Junior High School went to C. B. Strain & Sons, Inc. for $139,342. Bank Bros. Plumbing and Heating received the Mary's Avenue plumbing contracts for $46,524.

M. Kramer & Sons, Inc. was given the heating and ventilating contract for the Junior High School on a bid of $211,900. Strain & Sons received the Mary's Avenue contract with a $79,340 bid.

The electrical contract at the Junior High School went to Joseph E. O'Connor, Inc. for $178,404.

Go to Lowest Bidders
All contracts went to the lowest responsible bidder in each case.

Work is expected to start immediately and Benson A. Krom, chairman of the building committee, informed the board that the Mary's Avenue School is scheduled for completion about one year from the awarding of the contract, while the Junior High School is expected to be finished in slightly more than 500 days from the start of the project.

The total cost of construction, including the plumbing, heating and electrical work, is set at $2,983,959.

Wilson Says Koenigs Have $56,464 City Insurance

Republican county chairman Kenneth L. Wilson today revealed that Marie Koenig, wife of Joseph J. Koenig, democrat candidate for county treasurer, has been paid $56,464.10 by the Radel administration for liability and fire insurance covering property of the City of Kingston.

Doing business as the Koenig Insurance Agency, 116 Andrew Street, the Koenig home, Joseph Koenig's wife is the agent of record on policies amounting to more than 99.9 per cent of Kingston's liability coverage, and 30 per cent of the city's fire insurance coverage, Wilson said.

Of the $52,282.30 of liability premiums paid by the City of Kingston, Wilson pointed out, the wife of the democrat party leader is agent for all but $23.81. The fire insurance premium distribution is outrageous also, Wilson added, with Joseph Koenig's wife taking $4,205.61 of the $13,923.05 total.

Wilson said he felt it important that the voters of Ulster County be aware of the favoritism shown the Koenig family by Kingston's democratic administration in view of Joseph Koenig's candidacy for county treasurer, and the large amount of public funds that would be placed in his trust were he elected.

"Throughout the campaign," Wilson noted, "Koenig has been directing vicious and inaccurate charges against county treasurer Fred DuBois, and at the same time reaping the spoils of political favoritism at the expense of the taxpayers of Kingston."

11-Nation Group Is Unanimous Dag's Successor Will Name Aides

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The U.N. Security Council today recommended unanimously that Burma's U Thant be named acting secretary-general of the world organization in place of the late Dag Hammarskjöld.

The action was taken at a brief closed meeting of the 11-nation council after the big powers had reached agreement ending a six-weeks-old deadlock.

Vote by Secret Ballot
The General Assembly was scheduled to act quickly on the council's recommendation at an afternoon session. Overwhelming approval was expected in a secret ballot.

Mongi Slim of Tunisia, the assembly president, will read out the results to the delegates in the big blue and gold assembly hall. U. Thant will await the outcome in a room behind the podium.

The Belgian Count Jehan de Noue, chief of U.N. protocol, will escort U Thant to the speakers' platform. Members of the assembly's steering committee and presidents of the three high U.N. councils will be on the platform.

Slim to Give Oath
Slim will administer the oath of office to U Thant, and then escort him to the secretary-general's seat at the right of the president.

U Thant will make a brief acceptance speech, to be followed by a round of congratulatory speeches by delegates expected to take up the entire afternoon session.

U Thant will have a free hand to choose his chief assistant. The Soviets backed down after trying to specify the number of principal deputies the Burmese ambassador would appoint and the areas from which they would be drawn. The United States made a similar retreat earlier this week.

The Security Council was called into a closed meeting this morning to recommend U Thant to fill out the term of Dag Hammarskjöld, who was killed in a plane crash in Africa Sept. 18.

U Thant, 52, a quiet but determined diplomat, broke the U.S.-Soviet deadlock over the issue of his principal advisers by telling

Route 9W Inn Is Razed by Fire Around Midnight

A $35,000 fire, of undetermined origin early today, destroyed the Staten Island Inn on Route 9W in Lake Katrine and sent one fireman to Kingston Hospital for emergency treatment of smoke inhalation.

Chief Harry Lowe of Ulster Hose Company No. 5 said Mrs. August Nitsche, the proprietor, discovered the flames shortly after retiring about midnight and turned in an alarm. Chief Lowe said the blaze apparently started in the front section of the first floor of the two story structure. When volunteers finally placed it under control only the front and rear walls remained standing. The all-out was sounded at 4:30 a. m., but Chief Lowe left two men on the scene for several hours as a precautionary measure.

Seemed All Right
State Trooper John Salters of the Lake Katrine Barracks reported that when he passed the Inn about midnight, everything appeared all right, but five minutes after he reached the barracks the siren sounded.

Chief Lowe is still investigating to determine the cause of the blaze. The loss has been estimated at $35,000.

Lt. John Hatfield was treated at Kingston Hospital for smoke inhalation and later was released.

Staten Island Inn was owned for 35 years by August Nitsche who died last August 6, only 12 days after he celebrated his 85th birthday on July 25. His wife had been operating the Inn since his death.

Nitsche formerly operated a grocery store for many years on Staten Island and when he came to Lake Katrine and took over the Inn, he named it for that community.

UN Votes 72-21 For Moratorium On Nuclear Test

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

The U.N. political committee gave overwhelming approval on Thursday night to a call for a voluntary, unpoliced moratorium on nuclear weapon tests.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union have rejected it in advance.

The committee voted 72-21 with 8 abstentions for the resolution submitted by India and five other nonaligned nations. It appeared certain to get the two-thirds majority needed in the 103-nation General Assembly.

The ballot came shortly after two more Soviet nuclear blasts were disclosed and President Kennedy announced the United States would prepare to conduct new tests in the atmosphere to ready in case free world security demanded them.

Before the vote, the United States and its Western allies said Moscow's unilateral scrapping of the previous voluntary moratorium on Aug. 31 and its subsequent series of test explosions attested to the futility of any agreement that made no provision for enforcement.

The Soviet Union called the moratorium "unfeasible" unless it was made part of an overall disarmament agreement.

Despite the prior rejection by the nuclear powers, India urged the committee to make another appeal to them to call off further tests.

Some delegates predicted the strong support given the moratorium would place the United States in an awkward position if it resumes atmospheric tests. They argued that the propaganda bonus the Americans won from the worldwide indignation over the Soviet Union's violation of the last moratorium would be canceled out if they follow suit.

Quick UN . . .

The big powers he would name "a limited number." He refused to commit himself in advance to any particular number from any particular areas and told the Soviets and the Americans they could take it or leave it.

U Thant said he would also tell the assembly after his election that he would consult with his advisers on important questions and work with them "in a spirit of mutual understanding." The Soviet Union originally demanded that the deputies have a virtual veto over the secretary-general's decisions but abandoned this stand weeks ago.

Split on Deputies

The United States and the Soviet Union also had agreed weeks ago that U Thant should get the job. But they could not agree on the nationalities of the deputies who officially will be closest to the new head of the U.N. secretariat.

The Soviet Union favored seven chief deputies—an American, Soviet, Latin American, African, West European, East European and Asian. The United States, Britain and France favored five—excluding the East European and Asian.

On Wednesday the United States and Britain said they were willing to let U Thant decide—and France indicated approval. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin, president of the Security Council this month, gave in Thursday without explanation and called the Security Council to meet to name Hammarskjöld's successor.

When driving on a turnpike, it is advisable to pull into a service area for a short rest every two hours.

Make Punishment Fit Crime In Youth Cases: Richter

Intelligent sentencing is one answer to juvenile delinquency, says Attorney Hubert A. Richter, Democratic candidate for county judge. Richter spoke to a group at the party headquarters here Thursday night on Children's Court, which he said, deals with problems of so-called juvenile delinquents and support cases involving the unfortunate young from broken homes.

Richter, in first addressing his audience, to the problem of juvenile offenders, said that while he agrees with the law in keeping these matters private, he feels that more can be done by the Judge in making useful citizens of these youngsters by intelligent sentencing.

No Thought of Consequences
He claimed that many of these young people never think of the consequences of their acts, and never meet their victims and that no real punishment is meted out.

He said that he would make the punishment fit the crime. If a car was involved, the license would be revoked, said Richter. If malicious damage was done to property, or a theft perpetrated, full restitution would be made and the youngster would be made to come face to face with his victim so that the crime would not be impersonal.

This, Richter said, would make the youngster aware of the consequences of his act and would put the crime on a person to person basis. Once this is done, Richter claimed, the golden rule of doing unto others as you would have them to do unto you would be driven home to the youngster and would prevent a repetition of the act.

Says Court Lacking
Turning to support cases of children from broken homes, Richter claimed that the present Children's Court judge is making no attempt to reunite the parents. Richter claimed every attempt should be made, if only for the sake of the children. He said that he would send the parents to their clergyman and actively cooperate with the clergy to effect a reconciliation, and reuniting of the family.

He also claimed that the present court is ignoring the needs of the children in many cases. Richter

Make Punishment Fit Crime In Youth Cases: Richter

Intelligent sentencing is one answer to juvenile delinquency, says Attorney Hubert A. Richter, Democratic candidate for county judge. Richter spoke to a group at the party headquarters here Thursday night on Children's Court, which he said, deals with problems of so-called juvenile delinquents and support cases involving the unfortunate young from broken homes.

Richter, in first addressing his audience, to the problem of juvenile offenders, said that while he agrees with the law in keeping these matters private, he feels that more can be done by the Judge in making useful citizens of these youngsters by intelligent sentencing.

No Thought of Consequences
He claimed that many of these young people never think of the consequences of their acts, and never meet their victims and that no real punishment is meted out.

He said that he would make the punishment fit the crime. If a car was involved, the license would be revoked, said Richter. If malicious damage was done to property, or a theft perpetrated, full restitution would be made and the youngster would be made to come face to face with his victim so that the crime would not be impersonal.

This, Richter said, would make the youngster aware of the consequences of his act and would put the crime on a person to person basis. Once this is done, Richter claimed, the golden rule of doing unto others as you would have them to do unto you would be driven home to the youngster and would prevent a repetition of the act.

Says Court Lacking
Turning to support cases of children from broken homes, Richter claimed that the present Children's Court judge is making no attempt to reunite the parents. Richter claimed every attempt should be made, if only for the sake of the children. He said that he would send the parents to their clergyman and actively cooperate with the clergy to effect a reconciliation, and reuniting of the family.

He also claimed that the present court is ignoring the needs of the children in many cases. Richter

Brett Asks Police Probe Suspects Paper Firm Fire Started in Vacant Building

Investigation of the suspicion that the fire which badly damaged the Cornell Street building housing Livingston & LeFever, Inc., and nearby buildings Wednesday was under way by local police today.

Fire Chief James M. Brett, after inspections at the scene, said he felt the fire could have been started in one of the vacant buildings either through carelessness or otherwise, and he requested the police probe.

To Run Over $100,000
A report from one source today indicated that the loss by Livingston & LeFever will be "well over $100,000."

Fireman Joseph Carle, who was affected by heat, smoke and exhaustion while fighting the blaze, and one of two confined for treatment returned to his home Thursday. The condition of Deputy Chief Julius Buchholz, who suffered carbon monoxide poisoning was reported in "fairly good" condition today at Kingston Hospital. Several other firemen were injured or suffered ill effects from smoke.

Reports at the scene of the fire Wednesday indicated that members of a "bottle gang" had been using the vacant buildings.

Firemen Kept Busy
Fire in leaves and brush kept firemen on the run Thursday and today and one call yesterday afternoon was for 160 Fair Street where an overhead pipe damaged flooring in the home of Mrs. Virginia Curtis. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, the Wicks Company, and Excelsior responded.

Other calls Thursday were for a fire in leaves in a catch basin near the Rafalowsky store, Albany Avenue, for brush at Cornell Park, and leaves on Trenton Street, Smith and Lucas Avenues. A call this morning was for leaves on West Chestnut Street and one at 12:14 p. m. was for burning leaves in a Liberty Street catch basin.

Disregards Advice, Held as Drunk Driver

A Hensonville, Greene County man disregarded the advice of a Saugerties patrolman early today and less than a half hour later was charged with driving while intoxicated.

Henry A. Barber was issued a summons by Saugerties Village Patrolman Edward Sweeney for appearance Saturday at 2 p. m. before Acting Police Justice William D. Brinnier.

Patrolman Sweeney said Barber reportedly had backed into the car of Peter Stroh of Malden in front of Crystal Lake Hotel, Hill and East Bridge Streets at about 1:10 a. m.

Sweeney told Barber to allow his passenger, Harriet Soule to drive his car because Barber appeared in no condition to drive. At 1:45 p. m. he saw Barber driving and arrested him on a charge of driving while intoxicated. A blood test was taken and sent to Kingston Laboratory, Sweeney said.

Fair Share for Japan

HAKONE, Japan. (AP) — The United States and Japan at the conclusion of Cabinet-level discussions on economic affairs today that they can expect a fair share of the $2-billion-a-year increase in U.S. imports the Kennedy administration anticipates.

But Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges warned that the United States "very soon will have to increase its exports tremendously" because present exports total only $2 billion a year, representing only 4 percent of the nation's total production.

The observations were made during the second day of the closed talks of the joint U.S.-Japan committee on trade and economic affairs.

James Thurber, Humorist, Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — James Thurber, writer-humorist and cartoonist, whose lop-eared dog drawings put people and events in perspective, died Thursday at the age of 65.

Thurber died of pneumonia at Doctors Hospital after undergoing surgery a month ago for a blood clot on the brain.

A master satirist, with what a colleague once described as "a firm grasp on confusion," Thurber delighted millions with his wit in his books, short stories, fables, articles, and cartoons.

He never lost his sense of humor, even when he went completely blind several years ago. An accident cost him the sight of one eye when he was six years old. He lost the sight of the other eye despite a long series of cataract operations.

In his last month of life Thurber, who then had difficulty in speaking, occasionally hummed little tunes to amuse his nurses.

Thurber, who attended Ohio State University at Columbus, Ohio, where he was born, was a newspaperman in that city, Paris, and New York.

He joined the New Yorker magazine in its infancy. For some years Thurber and E. B. White wrote "The Talk of the Town," a column-like preface to the magazine, and it was White who persuaded Thurber to make his doodled drawings public.

Thurber collapsed in a New York hotel room Oct. 4. The night before he had attended the opening of the Noel Coward musical, "Sail Away," and addressed the cast afterward. Thurber and his wife resided in West Cornwall, Conn.

Hawaii Is Facing Dockers' Strike, Pact Is Halted

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) — International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, seeking a contract similar to the one in force on the West Coast, canceled an interim contract with Hawaii's longshore operators Thursday.

The union gave employers a 14-day cancellation notice, setting the stage for a possible strike after Nov. 16. It would be the first major dock strike here in 21 years.

Hawaii's 1,800 dockers authorized the union to call a strike if necessary to secure its demands. ILWU proposals, basically, entail the same gains recently won by West Coast longshoremen, including a mechanization fund.

The ILWU wants two annual payments of $600,000 each into the fund. The industry has offered to maintain the fund at an annual maximum of $360,000.

Truman Mellowing...But Not Much

Kind Words for 80th Congress, Only One Criticism of Kennedy

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry Truman made a career—all the way up to the presidency—of being a Democrat and banging the Republicans. At 77 he's still at it, full of pep and partisanship.

The one-sidedness gets monotonous, as it does with any politician. But he has an aggressive directness and terseness that make Presidents Kennedy and Eisenhower look as cautious as Calvin Coolidge beside him.

In Typical Form

At the National Press Club Thursday he was in typical form although he got to bed late the night before as Kennedy's guest at the White House. He said nothing that could even obliquely be considered criticism of Kennedy except for this:

Asked how often he thought a president should hold news conferences, Truman said once a week. In the 1960 campaign Kennedy talked of once-a-week conferences if elected. But, now that he's President, weeks go by without one.

Otherwise, Truman had nothing but praise for Kennedy's administration, nothing but blame for Eisenhower's, although he never mentioned Eisenhower by name.

HST-Like Split Holds

The split which began between Truman and Eisenhower in the 1952 campaign is still there and, judging from Truman's performance Thursday, he won't be the first to try to heal it. At the same time, Truman and President Hoover are friends.

Truman has mellowed, but only a little. He had a kind word for the Republican-run 80th Congress which, in the 1948 campaign, he called the "do-nothing" Congress.

He said Thursday it passed "some of the most significant foreign policy legislation in our history"—like aid for Greece and Turkey and the Marshall Plan—but he still blamed it for being "do-nothing" on problems at home.

Knows Place in History

It was no accident he stressed the significance of the aid for Greece and Turkey — when the Communists were breathing down their necks—or the Marshall Plan, whose economic help got shattered Europe back on its feet.

He knows his place in history—and his rank among the presidents—hinges on his foreign record: What he did when the cold war with Russia began and what he did when it turned frigid.

His major foreign decisions—besides the two just mentioned—were putting this country into military alliance with Western Europe, setting up bases around the world of communism to contain it, and going into Korea.

Truman, through these actions, laid down the foreign policy which Eisenhower and Kennedy followed without any major change or addition.

Differ on Congress

But if Eisenhower and Kennedy were his heirs in foreign policy they were not in dealings at home.

The most obvious difference is in the way the three men handled Congress.

Truman was far more aggressive than the other two in fighting for legislation he thought was needed. And he made the presidency a lot more personal in the sense of fighting openly with individuals whose policies or tactics he had no use for.

Best examples: his open and prolonged quarrels with Sens. Robert Taft and Joseph McCarthy. Eisenhower avoided personal disputes completely. Kennedy has so far.

Whether Truman's method was better is debatable. Despite Truman's antagonism, McCarthy got bolder and stronger.

It was the Eisenhower administration, although Eisenhower himself avoided a head-on clash, which laid the foundation for the destruction of the Wisconsin senator with the Army-McCarthy hearings.

Colorful Place Then

But one thing is for sure: The White House under Truman was a far more lively and colorful place than it has ever been under Eisenhower or Kennedy. Truman is a man who met life head-on, grabbed it, shook it, and loved every minute of it.

Anyone who doubts his love of life should have heard him Thursday. He said he hopes he lives to be 100. And then, in the only somber note of the day, he said: "I don't think I'll make it."

THE ROAD TO PEACE

The award of the Nobel peace prize for 1961 to the late Dag Hammarskjöld was, however gratifying, not much of a surprise. There was an inescapable fitness in thus honoring the man who served as secretary general of the United Nations during its most crucial years. He strove mightily for peace, and to that end made full and imaginative use of the powers of his office.

The belated award of the 1960 peace prize to Albert J. Lutuli, a South African Zulu chieftain, did come as a surprise. Yet this man, too, was thoroughly deserving of the honor. Though his efforts were confined to his own small country, whereas those of the secretary general encompassed the world, Lutuli nevertheless measures up well as a peacemaker.

The two awards may profitably be considered together as illustrating two different means of working toward harmony among men. Hammarskjöld operated at the international level, bringing the political and moral forces of the world assembly to bear upon situations that threatened the peace. The role of Lutuli was to foster peaceable ways of achieving equality for his people in a nation whose government's official policy is to scorn and degrade the black man.

The methods were different, yes, yet in each case the goal was the same—to remove the causes of discord, to compromise differences, and thus to advance on the hard road to peace. There are lessons for all of us in the work of these men.

Military, scientific and business leaders warn against an obsession to put a man on the moon. The Republicans don't need this advice. They're more interested in putting a man in the White House.

The Russians claim they're going to touch off their 50 megaton bomb on Halloween. Ours probably won't be ready until the Fourth of July.

COMPUTER REVOLUTION

Much has been heard about the application of high-speed electronic data processing to industrial and scientific procedures. Thus far we have witnessed only the beginning. The computer revolution will make an even greater impact in the years ahead. This impact may well be equal to that produced by atomic fission, in the opinion of an official of a firm that has been a leader in computer manufacture. That view is based on far more than wishful thinking.

As the control mechanism in automated processes, computers will not in the long run be a villain depriving people of jobs. They could be an instrument to radically alter our living habits. But the expert mentioned above sees a great hurdle. Before this promise can be fulfilled we must raise the development level of those who should "fill the jobs created by computers." Too few such people are now available.

This warning should be of special interest to those responsible for educating our youth. It would be a great pity if the productive capacity of our economy, collaterally the defense of the nation, were to be hindered by the lack of a sufficiently educated pool of labor.

Not the least important effect of the development of computers has been to expose this lack. It behooves us to see that young people are ready to step into jobs that may not be completely envisioned at this time. The computer revolution is clearly underway. We had better be ready for it when it gathers full momentum.

Science has established the fact that mosquitoes would rather starve than eat what they don't want. We'd like to know how to get on the "don't want" list.

Ike says the Kennedy administration "is confusing me and all my friends." Let's hope it's also confusing Khrushchev.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
THE SMALL BUSINESS

Now that we are involved in the problems of the Congo and Soviet Russia and the 103 member nations of the United Nations, we have lost sight of our own people, the small businessman, the butcher, the baker, the candlestick-maker.

But there I go, getting my time all wrong because we buy our meats, all weighed and wrapped, in a chain store; we buy our bread and rolls and cake not only baked, but kept soft by additives, wrapped in cellophane or in disposable aluminum tins; as for candlesticks, they are only used for picturesque ornamentation.

Nevertheless there are still courageous souls who open small businesses, a plumbing business, a repair shop of one kind or another, a small drug store and all sorts of small grocery stores which somehow compete with the big ones for the reason that a customer likes to come in and say, "Hello, Jake," and not feel that he is the most unknown man in the world.

But the government makes it very tough for these small businesses. In the first place, there are forms to fill out. If a small businessman employs more than his wife and himself, he begins to get buried in a sea of forms. If he employs four persons, the forms become more numerous. Before long, he has to spend more time and energy filling out forms than he does selling his goods and services. Then he has to have various licenses and they must be precisely in the exact spot where nobody but an inspector will see them.

So, the small businessman becomes the slave of the accountant who tells him where he gets off. The accountant naturally charges for his services because he is a small businessman too. Maybe, to get things straight, they have to call in a small lawyer, a fellow who had high hopes and great ambitions but landed on the wrong rung of the stepladder and now is glad to charge a tiny fee to get a license which the small businessman could get without anybody's help but he has no time because he has to earn a living.

Every President, Senator and Representative has somewhere along the line promised to help the small businessman, particularly from a myriad of forms which take time to fill out and for a small businessman time is money.

But when the campaign is over, the statesmen seem involved in great subjects, such as how to get along with Khrushchev, and the small businessman is forgotten and his forms multiply and the taxes and excises continue to have to be paid. And so, what the small businessman wonders is where he gets off and how long he can last. If things get too bad, the small businessman can buy a union card and get on a union job. Maybe, we do not need small businessmen but should live in a world of Trusts.

The social significance of all this is that the middle-class, which has been the backbone of American life, is disappearing. The rich grow richer by investments and by sending their money to such a country as Switzerland; the proletariat join unions and obey union rules rather than the law of the land and one's own judgement. Freedom of choice disappears for such a person; he becomes a controlled and dominated creature, not unlike the Russians whom we criticize so severely.

The elimination of the independent, proprietary businessman and his submergence to obedience to sheer bigness is not beneficial to our particular kind of society which is based on the individual's freedom of choice rather than obedience to authority. But the middle-class is becoming impoverished by taxes and the cost of operations until it is becoming part of the proletariat. Its place in our society is being taken away by the card-carrying union member who is protected by mass associations. This shift in our society is altering its nature more than is suspected. At a time when the value of the dollar is going down and the economy of the country is swiftly changing, the real peril is that we have departed from a policy of national economics.

American life is established on the strength of a prevailing middle-class living in small towns. The disappearance of this element is a social change of major significance which cannot be ignored at this stage of our development. (Copyright 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Moving to Warmer Clime
Won't Help Arthritis

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Both my mother and I suffer from rheumatoid arthritis. Would it be wise for me to move from Maine to a warm climate to prevent my children from developing what seems to be a family disease? And would it help my mother and me to make the move?

A—Unhappily, I must answer "no" to both questions. A recent survey made by the U. S. Public Health Service showed that the incidence of all forms of arthritis was about the same throughout the country. Specifically, the figures per 1,000 population were 58.8 in the northeast, 65 in central states, 68.5 in the south and 64.1 in the west.

Commenting on the survey, the director of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation was quoted as follows: "There is no consistent effect of climate on victims of rheumatic disease. Contrary to the widely held belief that arthritis sufferers get better in a warm dry climate, most experience no noticeable change in their condition. Of course, like anyone else they find living easier in such a climate. Some do get a little better but a few get a little worse, the same as everywhere else."

Q—Could having a haircut have a psychological effect on a two-year-old boy? My youngster had a beautiful head full of blonde curls and I postponed cutting his hair as long as I could. Recently I broke down and took him to the barber. Before the hair-cutting, he was a good natured, obedient child. Overnight, he became a bad little monkey. He won't take directions without a scene and squeals like a little pig when he doesn't get his way.

A—I'm inclined to think there is a cause and effect relationship between the haircut and the character change in your youngster. I've observed similar reaction too frequently for them to be coincidence.

I hope you won't mind my saying this but it's a mistake, in my opinion, to cultivate the curls of baby boys. I won't go as far as the Freudians in assaying the consequences of these acts of maternal vanity. But I do remember that the little boy your columnist used to be, a skating cap and night and day for weeks after his first haircut!

Q—A neighbor claims instant coffee is highly injurious to health because more grounds are consumed. Is the larger amount of coffee bean in instant coffee a health hazard?

A—First off, there's not a larger amount of coffee bean in instant coffee. Secondly, instant coffee is no more and no less a health hazard than coffee made in the regular way.

Q—In the plant where I work, I've heard three different stories about people swallowing snakes that then lived and grew in their stomachs. One story said a girl swallowed a snake egg that hatched and grew in her stomach. Could these stories be true?

A—I don't know whether some one's pulling your leg. Or whether you're pulling mine. Anyhow these stories belong among the fairy tales.

Dear Reader: Dr. Hyman appreciates your comments and questions but regrets that the heavy volume of his mail doesn't permit him to answer each individual letter or post card. However, he will comment in columns like the above upon matters of general or unusual interest.

Red China Puts an End to Suffering

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

Several things have come to light that explain why the United States is lagging in space despite superior over-all U. S. science and technology.

These U. S. mistakes and omissions explain why Russia will probably get to the moon first, even though the $2 billion the U. S. has spent on space is considerably more than the Russians have poured in, and though the $20 billion to $40-billion U. S. moon program is considerably more ambitious than the Soviet plan.

FIRST: THERE ARE strong indications the Russians are ahead on key basic instrumentation. There is reason to believe the Reds can measure high temperatures more accurately. They can measure great thrusts more precisely. They can measure extremely heavy weights more closely. They can measure some electromagnetic waves more finely.

The ability to measure is crucial. The measuring of high thrust is a prime prerequisite to building super-high-thrust space rocket engines quickly and efficiently.

The ability to measure high temperatures is a prerequisite to developing superior metals for rockets and space ships.

The ability to measure electromagnetic waves is crucial in developing better space communications.

SECOND: THE RUSSIANS have shown a greater willingness to standardize in all aspects of their space work.

This standardization results in more reliability, less cost. It means that any particular space project can be accomplished more quickly.

The United States has more or less tailor-made every job. The U. S. tends to build a separate vehicle for almost every space payload. We thus have too many varieties of stabilization systems for satellites, too many different types of power supplies for our satellites and space vehicles. We have too many different varieties of telemetering systems.

Tailor - making complicated electronic space gadgetry means creating new variations, each with a series of bugs that must be ironed out before the project can go ahead. The cut in reliability as a result of this variety is tremendous. The U. S. has only 50 per cent success in getting its space vehicles into orbit.

THIRD: THE UNITED STATES tries to squeeze the last ounce of performance out of every space component. This means increased complexity and a further lowering of reliability. This constant refining is very expensive.

If the U. S. had spent more time and effort in making larger rockets and less time on refining the size of components, we would have done better.

In other words, our space scientists have spent too much of their time on minor refinements instead of looking for radical new approaches.

FOURTH: THE RUSSIANS are apparently pouring more time and effort than the U. S.

Nov. 3, 1941 — Mayor C. J. Heislman announced that the New York Fire Insurance Rating organization at Syracuse had reduced the city fire insurance rate.

An arts and crafts show opened at the Old Community House, Main Street, Saugerties. Mrs. Elizabeth C. Gardner, 81, died at Saugerties.

The Kingston and Benedictine Hospitals were listed as approved by the 24th Annual Standardization Conference of the American College of Surgeons.

Nov. 3, 1951 — A rainfall of more than an inch caused streams in the county to rise but no reports of flooding were received.

The Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation moved to have its assessments on various properties in the Town of Marlborough reduced and applied to the Supreme Court for appointment of a referee to hear review proceedings.

The area preview of winter entered its fifth day and forecasters predicted more winter woe was ahead.

into some key areas of basic space research. They are, for example, putting a great deal of effort into celestial mechanics.

The development of U. S. rockets and space vehicles has been held back by a lack of basic research. Builders have often had to go beyond present-day U. S. scientific knowledge by guess and by rule of thumb. This has usually resulted in minor improvements at great cost.

With more basic research, the U. S. could leapfrog ahead at much less expense and in much less time, over the long run.

As one space scientist puts it, "No matter how many billions you spend you can only increase the speed of a race horse by a small amount in terms of miles per hour. Whereas if you invent an automobile you can multiply that speed up to a point."

"And if you invent an airplane, or a rocket, you immediately jump into a whole new realm of speed. It's much cheaper to make these big jumps by new routes."

Once the issue is fully understood, the people of the Soviet Union can be depended upon to exercise their concerted will at least to preserve their own lives.

The first step, therefore, is for the President to put aside any qualms about being accused of "saber-rattling" and tell the whole story of America's bomber and missile strength.

For Mr. Khrushchev has certainly manifested no such sensitivity lately, and he has actually joked about his "mistake" in setting off something even more terrifying than the 50-megaton bomb that had been planned.

Why is it so important? Because if the peoples of all the world could realize that the United States is capable of destroying an aggressor, attention would really turn to the restraining influence that could be exerted upon such an aggressor. The demand would arise not merely for a limitation of armament but for the eventual non-use of any nuclear weapons.

To achieve any kind of balance, however, requires something far more effective than merely a paper agreement signed by an international conference in Geneva or anywhere else. It requires the only assurance that can be given against another world war—the establishment of a free system of government in Russia and in her several colonies now captive behind the iron curtain.

Sooner the Better
The sooner this is recognized as the paramount issue the greater the chance for the early achievement of a true peace in the world. For, while the Communists may remove the body of Stalin from its place of prominence in Moscow, it is significant that they have failed thus far to show the slightest intention of burying his ideas—word, bluff, bluster, threats, and a form of tyranny as old as the despotism of a Caesar.

But how can the men who hold power in the Soviet government today be deprived of their position of authority? Only by the will of the people. And how can that be done? Only by penetrating the Communist countries with official statements and ideas that will eventually convince the 200,000,000 people of the Soviet Union—and the many millions more under the Communist yoke—that to set up a free government is the only way to prevent the clear war and the destruction of millions of human beings.

Kennedy Is Urged to Tell World About U. S. Power

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — What the world sorely needs today is not more talk about fallout shelters, but more information directly from the President of the United States on the military power of this country its ability to destroy an enemy if there should be any kind of attack.

Some speeches have been made by lesser officials and brief comments have lately appeared in White House statements, but all these are not a substitute for a comprehensive pronouncement by the President that the whole world would read and accept as authoritative.

Why is it so important? Because if the peoples of all the world could realize that the United States is capable of destroying an aggressor, attention would really turn to the restraining influence that could be exerted upon such an aggressor. An experienced man who has served under three former superintendents of highways in the township is the Republican candidate for superintendent of highways this year in the Town of Ulster.

Edgar P. Elliott of Codwise Street, Sunset Park, a lifelong resident of that township, also gained valuable experience for this post when he was employed by the Ulster County Highway Department in 1946 following his discharge from military service.

During World War 2 he served three years in the European Theatre of Operations with the 102nd Infantry Division.

The election of Mr. Elliott also would return to the township an experienced town servant who formerly was councilman in the Town of Ulster for a four-year term of office.

Mr. Elliott, who now operates the Elliott Refuse Service, has been very active in the fraternal and civil activities of the Town of Ulster community.

He is a member of the Lake Katrine Grange, a past director of the Ulster Businessmen's Association and a member of Ulster Hose Company No. 5. He also is a member of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church of Kingston.

THE PLACING OF COUNTY FUND AT INTEREST.
The KINGSTONIAN, dated Saturday, JUNE 10, 1961

RAN THIS STORY*DuBois Started
Public Funds
Interest Plan

In a report on political views of the coming "off-year" election campaign in the city and county there was credited to former County Treasurer Joseph J. Koenig inauguration of the practice of placing county funds at interest.

According to records in the Board of Supervisors' office this was not so.

A letter to the Board dated July 7, 1959, from present Treasurer Fred H. DuBois deals with that matter. It states:

"I have been studying the question of earning interest by depositing or investing, temporarily, county monies not required for immediate expenditure. I would suggest that your honorable body consider provisions for such performance as provided by law. I believe that such action would be sound business practice and any earnings would be extra revenue."

Martin Resolution

On July 9, 1959, a resolution by Supervisor James E. Martin was on that matter and it was unanimously approved. It noted that the General Municipal Law provided that the supervisors could authorize the fiscal officer to invest money, not required for immediate expenditure, in special time deposit accounts provided that the money would be available when needed. The resolution then gave that authorization to the treasurer.

A Department of Audit and Control report of February, 1961, commended Mr. DuBois on his suggestion and practice. Funds invested have netted about $6,000 so far this year.

County Funds for Interest Drawing Purposes Can ONLY be deposited in "TIME ACCOUNTS" (which necessitates lower interest rates) and NOT in Savings Banks Under the LAW.

Breakers Off for Antarctica

Earliest Penetration Of Ice Pack Aim of 2

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer
CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP)—Two American icebreakers prepared today to try to history's earliest penetration of the formidable 700-mile ice pack surrounding Antarctica.

The U.S. Navy's Glacier and the Coast Guard's Eastwind will try to batter a pathway through the billions of tons of ice almost a full month earlier than any nation has opened the sea approach in any previous Antarctic "summer" season.

If successful, the two ships will have shown the way to a permanent system of getting cargo ships through the ice early with vital equipment for the Antarctic expeditions—thus reducing the need for more expensive air freighting in the early stages of operations.

The ice, which forms on Antarctica's stormy seas during the long winter when temperatures far inland range down to more than 100 degrees below zero, must be broken up year to allow the return of support ships for American scientific and weather-watching activities on the ice-capped continent.

Even during the so-called summer, inland temperatures can range down to the minus 40s.

The try by the icebreakers marks the mounting of a second major phase of the Navy's "Operation Deep Freeze 62" an operation that will involve 3,000 men, 19 ships and more than 30 aircraft by the close of the continent's September-March summer.

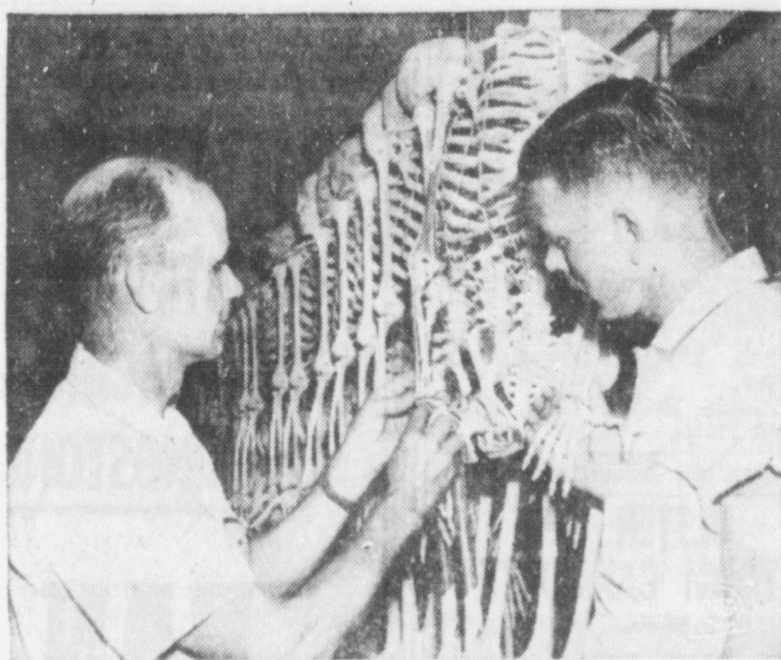

The Eastwind is to shove off Monday and the speedier Glacier Thursday.

This second phase of "Deep Freeze"—the Navy's supporting operation for the most ambitious scientific program ever attempted by the United States in the Antarctic—is a seagoing phase.

The first phase—involving aircraft activities to and within the 5½ million square mile continent—began in late September.

Geneva Is Major 'Target' of AF

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP)—The U.S. Air Force is going to make Tuesday the most crowded election day ever in this quiet Finger Lakes city of 17,000.

Giant eight-jet B-52 and B-47 bombers of the Strategic Air Command will wing in at 6,000 feet to mark the beginning of SAC's 45-day low-level simulated bombing runs.

Geneva is the major target.

Bomb squadrons will converge from 14 SAC bases in New England, the Eastern seaboard, and the Middle West during the 45 days. The aircraft will begin the run over Syracuse's Hancock Field, swing west to Buffalo at 30,000 feet, then south to Corry, Pa., where they will descend to low level for a northeast run to Geneva.

Air Force technicians aboard a 10-car train packed with radar and other electronic gear will chart the results here.

The Air Force said the aircraft will fly at subsonic speeds to keep noise at a minimum. No bombs will be aboard.

Missile's 21st Success

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Flying a zig-zag course that demonstrated its ability to withstand violent wind gusts, a Pershing artillery missile has scored its 21st success in 23 test firings.

The missile darted 250 miles down range Thursday night. Pre-planned erratic maneuvers were built into the controls to test the ability of the inertial guidance system to return the missile to proper course.

23 Milk Dealers Must Halt Act Of Price-Fixing

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A State Supreme Court justice has ordered 23 Syracuse area milk dealers to halt alleged monopolistic practices in the fixing of prices for their products.

The order was requested by State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, who charged that the dealers had acted in concert to fix, establish and maintain noncompetitive prices for milk and milk products since 1955.

Among those named were the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, Inc., the New York State Guernsey Breeders Cooperative, Inc., and the Syracuse Milk-Dealers Inc.

Identifies Victim

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Frederick Taylor, 22, was being questioned about another case when he told detectives he had robbed a city bus driver of $34 in September.

But bus driver Norman W. Runyon, who had complained of a holdup, failed to identify Taylor in a lineup. Police then arranged a lineup of bus drivers and Taylor promptly picked Runyon as his victim.

Killed in Nebraska

CENTRAL CITY, Neb. (AP)—Richard V. Lawton, 48, of Oswego, N.Y., was killed Thursday when his car and a truck collided on U.S. Route 30, a half mile east of here.

Police said Lawton's wife was seriously hurt.

The driver of the truck told police he saw the car skid on ice before the crash.

Compact Is Seen Significant Step

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and the governors of three states have taken a major step toward full utilization of the water resources of the Delaware River Valley.

Joining the president Thursday in signing a compact for unified effort were Govs. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania, Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and Elbert N. Carvel of Delaware.

Gov. Rockefeller, who was not present, will sign later.

Kennedy said the signing of the document was a "significant event."

"Its significance lies in the unique character of the compact and in the great hope for a comprehensive plan for the full and effective development of the Delaware River Valley," he said.

He announced that Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall would be the federal government's representative on the interstate commission that will have jurisdiction over the program.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New Yorkers will be taxed nearly 14 per cent of the $89 billion the federal government plans to spend in the current fiscal year, the head of a research organization says.

Garth A. Shoemaker, president of the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, also said Thursday New York State taxpayers should demand fiscal responsibility by the government.

Belize Toll Is 151, Capital to Be Moved Inland

BELIZE, British Honduras (AP) —Twice destroyed by hurricanes in three decades, this capital of British Honduras will be moved inland 44 miles from the exposed Caribbean Coast to higher ground. The government announcement came as the known death toll from Hurricane Hattie rose to 151, and many more bodies were feared buried in the mud and wreckage left by the storm Tuesday.

Floods Threatened

The rising Belize River threatened floods in the city of 30,000, which bore the brunt of the 200-mile-an-hour winds and tidal waves that crashed in from the Caribbean.

Belize counted 62 dead. An estimated 75 per cent of the buildings in the city were destroyed or damaged. The property devastation was greater than the 1931 hurricane that leveled the city and killed more than 2,000 persons.

There were 38 dead reported in Stann Creek, 1 at Gale's Point, 23 on Turneffe and 14 on Cay Caulker. The latter two are small islands off the coast.

Five persons were reported killed in neighboring Guatemala and two in Honduras.

As far as could be determined amid the confusion, all the 200 Americans in British Honduras were safe.

U. S. Consul Safe

U.S. Consul Richard Geppert, who fled with his family just ahead of the storm, radioed from Cayo de San Ignacio that they were safe after being stranded at the Guatemala border by a blown-out bridge.

Hondurans trudged the muddy streets of the devastated capital and even managed a chuckle at their survival—but with heavy hearts.

British troops were flown from Jamaica to help guard against looting at the clearing of the debris went slowly, mostly by hand.

"When we are able to remove the debris from the streets, I fear many more bodies will be found," said Prime Minister George Price. "We are waiting for heavy equipment."

Raymond Yates, a waiter at the Fort George Hotel, told of the horror on hurricane night.

Tells of Horror

"I swam nine blocks right through the streets," he said. "On the way I found two bodies. I put them on a high place, where it was dry, and continued to swim. I came across a woman with two children. I helped the mother to safety, and swam the children to a dry place."

Many still talked about the baby born in Belize Hospital while the hurricane howled at its peak. It was a boy, and therefore not named Hattie.

Evacuation of the thousands of homeless moved slowly. A shortage of gasoline contributed to transportation difficulties. Special food dispensaries handed out rice to the destitute.

Relief supplies continued to pour in from abroad.

Planes from the U.S. Caribbean Command in Panama arrived with equipment to purify 900 gallons of water an hour, medicine, and 10 tons of food, enough for 40,000 meals. A disaster relief team came with them to survey the area's needs and additional supplies were readied in the Canal Zone.

The U.S. aircraft carrier Antietam arrived off Belize with helicopters, doctors and more relief supplies. The carrier joined the destroyers Cory and Bristol and the tanker Nespelen, which had arrived Wednesday.

The annual Ladies Aid benefit turkey dinner will be served at the Tillson Reformed Church Hall Saturday starting at 5 p. m. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

The committee in charge of the dinner has indicated that a large attendance is anticipated, and those wishing to be served at 5 p. m. should plan to come early.

A benefit food sale will be held Tuesday, Nov. 7, on the firehall grounds, starting at 10 a. m.

The public may attend both of these benefit activities sponsored by the Ladies Aid Society of the Tillson Reformed Church.

Matter of Fact

The needs of the body run a close second to the needs of the soul, judging by all-time best sellers. Of all the books published in the United States, more copies of the Bible have been printed than any other book. Running second in popularity is—you've guessed it—the cook book.

Wagner Pledges Milk for N.Y., Will Import It

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner says the city will import milk to end the drought felt by 10 million consumers because of a strike now in its 11th day.

Wagner, on a television broadcast Thursday night, promised police protection, if necessary.

To work for settlement "Milk will be brought in and the people will get it," Wagner pledged.

The mayor said he was interrupting his re-election campaign to give full time toward settling the walkout of 10,000 delivery drivers and plant workers, begun Oct. 24.

Both sides said today they were "no nearer" a settlement. Irving R. Wisch, representing the milk distributors, had this comment on Wagner's milk import promise: "He's just inviting milk to come in. If he can get milk to those who need it, the mayor will perform a real public service."

Samuel J. Cohen, lawyer for the striking Teamsters union locals, said: "All it seems to involve is an effort to supply milk to children and other persons who need it."

Hospitals Lack Milk
Meanwhile, an emergency plan to provide milk for hospitals, schools and other institutions seemed to have bogged down.

Two Long Island hospitals reported they had been without milk for three days.

After meeting with the emergency committee Thursday night, the mayor announced: "All schools, institutions and hospitals will have milk tomorrow. We won't have any trouble about it."

Financial and Commercial.

NEW YORK (AP)—The heaviest trading in weeks prevailed in an irregularly rising stock market early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .40 at 239.60 with industrials up .20, rails up .40 and utilities up .20.

If the gain were held until the close, the AP average would be at a new historic high.

While most key stocks made moderate gains, there were many losers. The most noteworthy feature of the session was the increase in volume, promising to top Thursday's which was the largest in about a month.

The price structure was irregularly higher at best and some gains were trimmed as the session wore on. Brokers attributed this to preweekend caution.

Optimism was fed by Chrysler's agreement with United Auto Workers, averting a strike scheduled for midnight Thursday. Motors, however, made only moderate gains. Major steelmakers tended to ease. Gains in tobacco, airlines, chemicals, coppers, and rails helped the averages.

Chrysler ahead more than a point at the start, cut its gain to under a point.

Buzzanco Case Over Junk Yard Goes to December

An adjournment until the December special term of Supreme Court was taken today in the contempt proceeding brought by the Kingston Zoning Board against Andy Buzzanco when the matter came up before Justice Staley at special term.

An official request for punishment of Buzzanco for contempt of court was brought by George A. Beck, as chairman of the Zoning Board, on the grounds Buzzanco had failed to comply with an order of Justice William Deckelman. That order directed him to comply with the Zoning Board directive to clean up his premises at 237 Abel Street, which the Zoning Board alleged is being used as a junk yard. The Board also alleged he had been using Block Park for personal business use.

Buzzanco has been represented by Timmerman & Carlson. Today it was stated they no longer represented him and he has secured new counsel, Corcoran & Counsel William A. Keefe, appearing for the City of Kingston, consented to the adjournment with the understanding the matter will be disposed of in December. Meanwhile, it was stated, Buzzanco is endeavoring to comply with the Zoning Board's directive.

No Source Yet Of Valley Blast

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — A mysterious blast awoke residents along a 25-mile stretch of the Hudson River Valley at 4 a.m. today.

Police said they have been unable to trace its source.

The blast, heard from south of Cornwall to north of Poughkeepsie, sent a number of persons fleeing to the streets in their nightclothes.

A woman in Grafton, about 80 miles north of Poughkeepsie, also reported hearing a loud explosion at 4 a.m. Mrs. Marie Croake said she had heard an airplane overhead after the blast.

Some Poughkeepsie residents said they saw a white cloud rise into the air. Poughkeepsie received more than 100 telephone calls of inquiry.

The 26th Air Division headquarters at Syracuse said a plane had broken the sound barrier near Poughkeepsie at 5:20 a.m.—but this was more than an hour after the blast was heard.

The Coast Guard said it had no report of any shipping accident on the Hudson.

JFK Word May Signal Test of New Type Arms

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials said today the United States can be expected to explode several new types of improved nuclear weapons if President Kennedy decides to order test firings in the atmosphere.

Kennedy announced Thursday he is determined to maintain the U.S. lead over the Soviet Union in nuclear weapons strength. He disclosed that he was ordering the "necessary preparations" for atmospheric tests if in his later judgment they become necessary.

Resumption Likely
Although the President is reported reluctant to order such explosions, there is a growing belief in official quarters here that the United States probably will undertake a program of atmospheric testing in a few months.

Officials reported that U.S. experts do not have in mind exploding superbolts of the kind that the Soviets fired Monday with a force of 50 megatons. On the contrary, they said, the atmospheric explosions would be relatively small, yet larger than tests conducted underground.

Kennedy said in his statement that if bursts in the air become necessary they would be held within limits that restrict the fallout "to an absolute minimum."

Initial preparations which are now beginning, it was learned, consist of a survey of the types of nuclear weapons which are being developed and the testing and selection of the sites at which the tests would be conducted. The second stage will consist of the physical preparation for the actual explosions.

The tasks of preparation fall primarily on the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission. The final decision of whether atmospheric explosions actually will be carried out will be made by the President.

Officials familiar with the progress of developments said that kinds of weapons which would undoubtedly be involved in any new testing program would include the much discussed neutron bomb, an antimissile missile and improved types of nuclear warheads designed to give greater explosive power in relation to their weight. These informants said government leaders consider it likely that scientific teams working on weapons development will be encouraged to come up with a variety of new ideas as preparations progress.

Lions Support Vote for College

Kingston Lions Club has endorsed the establishment of a Community College in Ulster County.

Stephen McGrath, Kingston Lions Club president, stated that the final action was taken at a special meeting held Thursday night at which time a resolution endorsing the college was approved.

Jeremiah Sachs, chairman of the Education Committee, drew up the resolution which reads: "Three independent reports have shown the need exists for a two-year community college in Ulster County and that by 1970 the number of students graduating from high schools will have almost doubled."

The establishment of this type institution will provide opportunities for many local youngsters who would otherwise be deprived of higher education because of its high cost.

A community college would be providing skilled labor, help to attract new industry to this area.

More than 220 students from Ulster County are now enrolled in community colleges in other counties at a cost of over $50,000 to Ulster County taxpayers this year.

The board of supervisors and State University of New York have approved the two-year college for Ulster.

The Kingston Lions Club therefore unanimously endorses the establishment of a community college in Ulster County.

Advising all voters to vote YES on the Local Proposition A on the extreme right-hand side of the ballot.

Airmen Probing Dorian 'Whir'

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—Six Air Force technicians sent by the White House tried today to learn the cause of the whir that the Binkowski family says has made their home nearly a madhouse for nine months.

The men, from Griffiss Air Force Base, said they were using equipment worth at least $500,000 in their tests at the house in suburban Rotterdam.

Eugene Binkowski, a truck driver, and his family had written to President Kennedy about the weird whirring sound they said had driven them from their home and almost out of their minds.

Rotterdam Councilman Frank Kriss, a Democrat, suggested the test.

A few other listeners say they have heard a noise, but local technicians called previously said they could not hear the sound or find any possible cause.

The Air Force men, who began work Thursday, declined to say yet whether they could hear it.

According to Deputy Sheriff Thomas Mayone who was assigned to the case, the child, one of three in the Trinkle family, had been suffering from a cold and slight fever. Coroner McCordie said the baby had been dead several hours when discovered.

Dr. Blyley joined the Keuka faculty as head of the English department in 1939. She was appointed dean in 1941 and in 1947 became the first woman president in the school's history.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

Babson Park, Mass. Nov. 3—So much appears in the newspapers about the Dow-Jones Averages that I am sure readers will be interested in an analysis thereof. The most well-known and widely discussed stock average is the Dow-Jones Industrial Average. The stocks which comprise this average represent a good cross section of the industrial companies, and they are looked upon as "blue chips." They are popular choices for trusts and pension funds, which often disregard the prices at which the stocks are selling, and rely on the "dollar averaging" concept and the growth of our economy. The 30 stocks which comprise this average are as follows:

Allied Chemical, Aluminum Co., American Can, American Tel. & Tel., American Tobacco, Anaconda, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, DuPont, Eastman Kodak, General Electric, General Foods, General Motors, Goodyear, Int. Harvester, Int. Nickel, Int. Paper, Johns-Manville, Owens-Ill. Glass, Procter & Gamble, Sears Roebuck, Std. Oil of Calif., Std. Oil of N. J., Swift & Co., Texaco, Union Carbide, United Aircraft, U. S. Steel, Westinghouse Electric, Woolworth.

There are also two other Dow-Jones stock averages—one consisting of 20 railroad stocks, and one of 15 utility stocks. There is also a Standard & Poor's Daily Average, of which I think highly, which covers a diversified list of 500 stocks. And there are numerous other averages.

Performances of Individual Stocks

The Dow-Jones Industrial Average varies from day to day. Five years ago it stood around 490. It later declined to 420, swung up to 685, settled back to 566, and then rose to 726. It is now around 706. Because of the high level of this average, many people think that all stocks are very high. However, many stocks are selling well below their highs of the past two years. Using the Dow-Jones Industrial stocks as an illustration, we find that some of these have reached new highs recently—among them: American Tobacco, Allied Chemical, International Nickel, General Foods, Sears Roebuck and Texaco.

Some have shown modest declines of less than 10%. Among these are American Telephone & Telegraph, International Paper, Procter & Gamble, Johns-Manville, and Union Carbide.

The Broad Middle Group

Most of the stocks have declined from 10% to 20%. Good-year, Standard Oil of California, du Pont, Eastman Kodak, and Swift & Company have declined between 10% and 15%. These would constitute a well-diversified list for conservative investors. On the other hand, I would prefer a combination of Celanese along with du Pont and Eastman Kodak, although Celanese is not in the average. American Can is also in the Dow-Jones group. It is the oldest can company, but Continental Can, not in the average, is also a good stock.

We now come to the group which shows declines of from 15% to 20%. This includes International Harvester, which represents the farm equipment stocks. Also in this group are U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Woolworth, and Anaconda Copper. Anaconda is a large copper producer, but Kennecott and Phelps are real competitors.

Stocks Showing the Largest Declines

Here again, stocks will come temporarily under this heading and then later on graduate from it. At the time I am dictating this column a few of the stocks have declined nearly 40%. Among these are General Electric, General Motors, Standard Oil of New Jersey, United Aircraft, and Westinghouse Electric. Only one D-J Industrial—Aluminum Company of America—has declined 40%. I personally would prefer to buy Aluminum Company rather than some of the stocks which have declined less severely.

In closing, I wish to point out to readers why the Dow-Jones Industrial Average is worthy of careful consideration by conservative investors. When this average is made up, all splits, stock dividends, etc., are included by use of a complicated formula. Over a long period, therefore, the average works out well, but it is deceiving from day to day. So watch the individual companies rather than the average as it appears in the newspapers each day. Owing to its complicated formula, inflation, and certain other factors, it is possible that the Dow-Jones Industrial Average could reach 1000 during the Kennedy Administration.

Why We Say--

GAMBLING DEVICE: This expression is said to have originated in the 1600's with a card player named John Benson of London, England. He built a circular table with a secret revolving top. When he received cards that he did not want he would distract his competitors, quietly turn the table and someone else would act them.

NEW YORK (AP) — Danny Kaye will make one of his occasional television appearances within the next few days, but generally network viewing will consist of regularly scheduled programs.

Tonight, however, the sponsor of CBS' "Route 66" will substitute a variety show, hosted by James (Gunsmoke) Arness, for the usual adventure story, in order to celebrate an anniversary. Featured are Art Carney, Nannette Fabray and Tony Randall (8:30-9:30 EST).

Saturday night's NBC movie (9-11) will star Clark Gable and Susan Hayward in "Soldier of Fortune." CBS' "Have Gun, Will Travel" features Odetta, the folk singer, in her first dramatic role (9:30-10).

Prime Minister Nehru of India will be the guest on NBC's "Meet the Press" Sunday (6-6:30), in conflict with a "Twentieth Century" documentary on CBS about the career of Al Smith. Jack Benny's guest will be Raymond Burr in his "Perry Mason" character (9:30-10), and NBC's "Show of the Week" will be "Music of the 30's," a Project 20 documentary. Danny Kaye will give virtually a one-man show Monday night

(9-10, CBS). Mickey Rooney will star in a serious drama, "Somebody's Waiting," on the Dick Powell Show Tuesday evening (9-10), NBC. And Fred Astaire will play an escape artist in "Moment of Decision," an hour-long drama (10-11, ABC).

CBS' "Circle Theatre" will take a look at charity gyms on Wednesday night (10-11) while NBC's David Brinkley will interview a former Soviet spy on his "Journal" (10:30-11).

Survival in modern war will be the grim theme of Thursday night's "CBS Reports" (10-11), first of two parts in a series called "The Battle of Terror."

Girls Are Back In Style: Dinah

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Dinah Shore has returned from the Paris fashion salons with good news: Girls are back in style.

No gal in television dresses finer than Miss Shore, and she works at it. She returned from Paris last week after a frantic 10 days of viewing all the new styles. Her haul: A dozen stunners from the needles of Balmain and Nina Ricci.

More Feminine Trend

"The trend in Paris?" she said. "It seems to be toward a more feminine look, thank heaven. I mean now girls look like girls. There seems to be less designing for the tall, emaciated fashion-model type and more for the rest of us, the ones who are all girl. The look is softer, rounder. The clothes show a waist, which most women have. There is no attempt to hide the bust line, which most women have. And the dresses show hips, which—(sigh)—most women have."

"Hair styles are softer and lower, necklines are more feminine, and heels are coming down. Good thing; those extra-high heels looked ridiculous and uncomfortable."

able. Oh yes—Skirts are higher." Dinah will be wearing six of her Balmain finds on her TV show tonight.

Nutty About Slacks

"I never really cared much about clothes until I started the TV show," Dinah said. "Even now I'm not wild about clothes. I'm nutty about slacks and sweaters, and that's what I wear most. People seldom go out any more in Hollywood. We eat at home most of the time. If we go to friends' houses, I usually wear slacks and sweaters."

But her TV life—that's another matter. "I think I get more fan mail about the clothes than about any other matter," she said. "I realized that when I wore a ball gown on the old 15-minute show, I got 10,000 letters about that one."

Now the gowns get top consideration in her program planning.

Public Attitude Vital

"And if they don't like the dress watch out! Once I wore a red leotard—pants, actually—that somehow photographed flesh color. Boy, did I hear from that one!"

Lest you worry about Dinah's closets bulging with costly gowns, I might explain that the designers lend their original models for her to use on the show. They go back to the shoppes afterward.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE TOWN OF OLIVE:

In answer to questions propounded by me to Supervisor Lester S. Davis, I submit the following:

No. 1. Regarding the purchase of land in West Shokan for playground purposes. This matter should have been presented to the taxpayers for their consideration in a referendum vote. Arrangements should have been made with Ontario School Board to use existing playground and equipment at Boiceville, and for furnishing responsible supervisors at both places.

No. 2. The official Town bookkeeping should be conducted by a qualified local resident, and be readily available.

No. 3. No Councilman should use his official position to further the acceptance of his private roadway, and then have it developed at public expense to further develop other lands retained by him.

No. 4. The Audit of July 8, 1961, by the State Dep't of Audit and Control, of the Town Records, criticizes the failure to carry surpluses forward to reduce the succeeding budget; failure to invest idle money; failure and delinquency to report moneys received, by a member of the Town Board. The Supervisor should not have permitted this to take place.

Tax increases caused by unfavorable equalization rates can only be corrected by a thorough knowledge of the way the rates are arrived at, and by an amicable understanding between the towns involved and the State Department of Equalization and Assessments.

For good government at the local level, I am

Yours sincerely,

South Gambles for Big Slam

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

North's five spade bid is rather unusual, but so is his hand. I am not going to criticize the bid one way or the other because there is no scientific way to bid such freak hands. Furthermore, North did not want to get scientific and tell his opponents what to lead. Actually, I would not object to an immediate six spade bid by the North hand.

I happened to hold the South hand. The game was board-a-match team of four and needless to say my partner's bid gave me quite a problem.

I had a mighty good hand. So good that I would have made some sort of slam try if my partner had only jumped to three spades. It was also apparent to me that my partner held something along the order of his actual hand and that even a six spade bid would go down one had my partner had a doubleton club and that suit were opened.

Against that I noted that there was no law that my partner had to be void of hearts—maybe hearts was his doubleton.

That left two things going for me. He could have that void and, if he didn't, the club might not be opened.

As long as I was going to

State Has Orders For 7,000,000 Seedling Trees

So far this fall, the State Conservation Department has taken orders from the public for nearly seven million seedling trees, according to Charles F. Baar, chief of the Bureau of Forest Management and Nurseries.

There are 28 million seedlings still available for reforestation of private land, he said. The two- and three-year-old conifers are being sold at ten dollars per thousand, a price well below the cost of production at the department's three nurseries. Delivery of the trees will be made in the spring, as soon as the frost is out of the ground.

Under state law, the seedlings must be used for wildlife cover, windbreaks or reforestation—not for landscaping.

Species available are white, Scotch and red pine; Norway and white spruce; Japanese larch, Austrian pine, balsam and Douglas fir, black locust and (for planting on Long Island only) Japanese black pine, which is resistant to salt water spray.

"In the past, we haven't always been able to fill all the orders we've gotten for seedlings," Baar said, "but this year we have an abundant supply on hand, largely because the Soil Bank has been discontinued."

Soil Bank cooperators previously accounted for a large percentage of the seedlings sold by the state, he said.

Order blanks and additional details are available from district foresters.

Boy, 11, Shot While Hunting Partridge

MINEVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Lawrence O'Hara, 11, of Mineville was accidentally shot and killed while hunting partridge with another 11-year-old, about a mile and a half from this Adirondack Mountain community.

Andrew S. Mandy's 12-gauge shotgun discharged Thursday while he was attempting to uncock it, and the blast struck the O'Hara boy, according to Dr. Onelio Gordon, Essex County coroner. Andrew, of Witherbee, had spotted a bird and cocked the gun, but the bird disappeared, the coroner said.

To Count Ducks, Geese In Closed Season

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—When the waterfowl season reopens, there'll be one less target for hunters—the State Conservation Department's low-flying survey plane.

The department said hunters in the past have pot-shot at the plane taking the geese and duck census. Instead, a 3,000-mile survey will be made in a closed season next week over Long Island, the Hudson Valley, Lake Champlain, the St. Lawrence and Niagara Rivers, Chautauque Lake, and marshes along Lake Ontario, the Mohawk Valley and Finger Lakes. The season reopens Nov. 21 on Long Island and Dec. 19 Upstate.

Two Get Eight Years For Blasting Towers

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Two men were sentenced to eight years in prison Thursday for blowing up two microwave towers and a relay station in the Nevada-Utah desert.

Bernard Brous, 51, and Dale Jensen, 26, pleaded guilty to conspiracy and obstructing vital communications. The government dropped sabotage indictments.

Brous said he was commander in chief of the "American Republican Army." Jensen was his only known follower.

When arrested, Brous said the explosions last May 28 were set off to arouse interest in his "army," show the government its defenses were weak and avenge wrongs he felt were perpetrated by telephone companies.

N-M Seeking Approval To Import Natural Gas

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. is seeking the approval of the State Public Service Commission to import natural gas from Canada for use in the St. Lawrence Seaway area of Northern New York.

Lauman Martin of Syracuse, Niagara Mohawk's general counsel, asked Thursday at a hearing that his company be authorized to purchase gas from Trans-Canada Pipelines Ltd., a Canadian supplier, pipe it across the St. Lawrence River at Iroquois Dam and sell it in Ogdensburg.

2 Gas Sources

The Federal Power Commission has given a Canadian firm permission to import natural gas from Canada and sell it in the Ogdensburg-Massena area.

An application by Niagara Mohawk's gas supplier, the New York State Natural Gas Corp., was denied by the FPC.

Niagara Mohawk would build a connecting pipe from Watertown, the northernmost point of the company's present natural gas distribution system, Martin said.

The pipeline, he said, would give Niagara Mohawk two gas sources—New York State Natural, which pipes gas from southern states, and Canadian gas. Canadian gas would be available to the entire Northeast through connecting pipelines of utilities, he said.

Niagara Mohawk has supplied Ogdensburg with manufactured propane gas at a loss, Martin said, "in the very sincere hope" that the company would be able eventually to distribute natural gas there.

Would Mean Denial

The PSC would have to deny the Ogdensburg area to the Canadian company, St. Lawrence Gas Co., a subsidiary of Consumers' Gas Co. of Toronto, in order to grant Niagara Mohawk's petition.

St. Lawrence was authorized by the FPC to bring gas over the International Bridge at Massena and pipe it to Massena, Norfolk, Madrid, Waddington, Potsdam, Canton and Ogdensburg. Included in this area are plants of General Motors, Reynolds Aluminum and the Aluminum Co. of America.

Leonard Germent, attorney for St. Lawrence, said Niagara Mohawk would not be prevented by St. Lawrence's entry into Northern New York from importing Canadian gas in the future.

Niagara Mohawk would have to apply to regulating agencies in Canada and this country, however, he said, while St. Lawrence was "ready, willing and able to furnish Ogdensburg at this time."

Two Democrats Against Measure To Buy Rail Cars

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Two Democratic legislative leaders have criticized a proposed state constitutional amendment that would make the state liable for payment of $100 million in bonds for the purchase of railroad commuter cars.

Sen. Joseph Zaretzki and Assemblyman Anthony J. Travia said Thursday "New York State taxpayers would be left holding the bag if, as seems likely, the railroads were unable to repay the $100 million debt."

The legislators referred to Amendment No. 3 on the election ballot Tuesday. It would put state credit behind $100 million in bonds that the Port of New York Authority would issue for purchase of railroad passenger cars that would be leased to commuter railroads serving New York City.

In their joint statement the Senate and Assembly minority leaders said:

"The New Haven Railroad already is in bankruptcy, the Long Island is on the verge and the New York Central claims to have lost $30 million this year. Thus, the outlook is that this so-called lease may turn out to be nothing but a pure grant—a give-away."

They said granting state credit for the bonds of public authorities is a "gimmick" used by the

Rockefeller Administration "to get around its own, avowed pay-as-you-go principle."

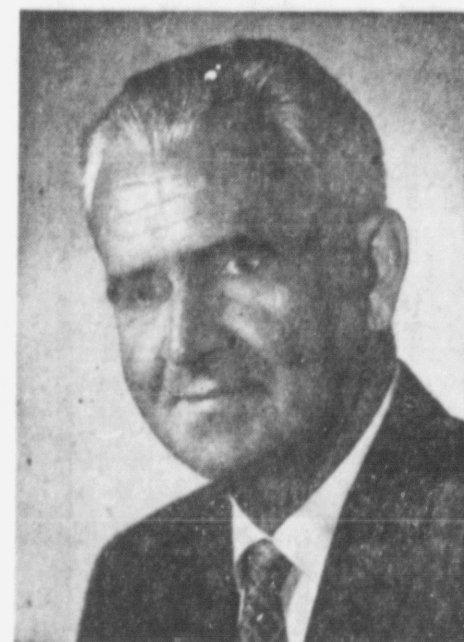

The lawmakers did not take a specific position on proposed amendments that would make the state liable for repayment of $500 million of state dormitory bonds and $50 million in bonds to aid industrial expansion.

500 INDEPENDENT CITIZENS BELIEVE

THERE MUST BE A REASON

Why so many FIRST VOTERS have professed their complete INDEPENDENCE and indicated their preference for JOHN J. SCHWENK for the office of Mayor . . . and

Why so many NEW VOTERS in our community — desirous of promoting the best interests of their 'new town' — are showing increased interest in his candidacy to the point of volunteering to assist in his campaign.

THERE MUST BE A REASON

WHY JOHN J. SCHWENK HAS NEVER LOST AN ELECTION. When given a choice between Mr. Schwenk and a formidable opponent, the voters of Kingston have always placed their stamp of approval on Mr. Schwenk.

THERE MUST BE A REASON

Why voters of all political parties — along with those who choose to be INDEPENDENT, eagerly and enthusiastically welcome his candidacy and have become part of his campaign for better municipal government.

THERE MUST BE A REASON

Why business men, professional men, public officials and those seeking public office rely on Mr. Schwenk's advice, counsel and good judgment.

THERE MUST BE A REASON

Why the man-on-the-street, the working man, and woman, the average taxpayer and rent payer, know JOHN J. SCHWENK as a friend and one who always has their best interest at heart both as a citizen and a public official.

The One Big Reason, We Believe, Is the Public's Overwhelming CONFIDENCE IN JOHN J. SCHWENK.

The public knows that when he brings his fine record of past performances into the Mayor's office they will be assured of honest, clean, intelligent and progressive government — at a price we are able to pay.

Public confidence is only one reason. There are so many, many more. They all add up to statesmanship — a quality so well possessed by John J. Schwenk.

As Independents, we are free to pass along a little tip. In the field of municipal government, John J. Schwenk is rated as "blue chip" stock with a record of excellent performance and steady growth.

WE RECOMMEND HIM AS A WISE INVESTMENT for the CITIZENS of KINGSTON on ELECTION DAY!

Republican Candidate for Town of Hurley Road Superintendent

HENRY BATTENFELD

Henry Battenfeld has lived in the Town of Hurley for 30 years and has personally observed the growth of the town.

For the past 7 years he has served as Highway Superintendent and in cooperation with the bi-partisan Planning Board, appointed by the Town Board, he has watched over the construction of new Town roads. All such roads approved must be constructed according to the Town's specifications. This has resulted in a great saving to the taxpayers who are assured that the roads are properly constructed at the expense of the developer.

During his administration, he has systematically eliminated the dirt roads and, as of the present, there are less than two miles of non-hard surfaced roads in the Town Highway System which consists of about 65 miles of roads.

In his past term of office, he has concentrated on the school bus routes. Because of the growth of the town, many of the roads required widening because they were old narrow roads. It was also necessary to construct turn arounds to insure the safety of the children.

These accomplishments have been made without increase in the Town Highway Taxes. In addition the Town owns $65,000 worth of equipment without one penny of debt against it. Return the experienced and new economy minded Republican Town Official to office.

50,000 Throng Expected

10,000 Hear Kennedy Endorse N. J. Hopeful

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—President Kennedy wowed New Jersey Democrats Thursday night with a Republican-needing stump speech aimed at helping underdog Richard J. Hughes in the state's race for governor.

Kennedy obviously enjoyed a two-hour respite from the burdens of the presidency as he put on the cap of party political leadership in an outdoor speech in the brisk November air to a rally of about 10,000 of the party faithful. This fell far short of the 50,000 throng that Hughes' supporters had hoped to assemble.

Boost to Wagner First

The President flew to Trenton from New York City, where he gave a boost to Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner in the latter's race for reelection. Kennedy flew back to Washington after a brief reception with New Jersey Democratic leaders and a 10-minute speech for Hughes.

Kennedy's endorsement of Wagner in New York was: "I want to take this opportunity to state with the utmost conviction my wholehearted support for the reelection of Mayor Robert F. Wagner. His experience in coping with the problems of this great city cannot be matched."

The endorsement was in a statement in the President's name, issued as his plane touched down at La Guardia Field.

The President's motorcade was deliberately routed through such important political areas as Harlem and the upper West Side of Manhattan as thousands watched from sidewalks.

Danies Rescue Mission

Wagner — handicapped by a Democratic party split his fight for a third four-year term—denied that Kennedy's visit to the city five days before election day was a political rescue mission.

Wagner's Republican opponent, State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, said Wagner "pushed the panic button" in getting Kennedy to go to New York to boost a sagging Democratic campaign.

In Trenton, Kennedy was in old campaign form as he told the cheering crowd that Hughes, opposed by Republican James P. Mitchell, had had "a long and uphill campaign." Mitchell generally is credited with leading in a contest that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has said will have a direct bearing on Re-former President Harry S. Truman.

With a note of sarcasm in his voice, the bare-headed President, wearing a business suit and no topcoat, told the chilled crowd that Hughes had been downgraded too much.

He has been written off on more front pages of more papers supporting other candidates than any candidate I know, with the possible exception of myself about 18 months ago," Kennedy said.

Kennedy avoided any reference to Eisenhower, who has campaigned personally for Mitchell, who was labor secretary in his Cabinet. But if Democrats felt the President thus left any kind of political void, they had reasonable assurance that it would be filled with a scheduled appearance in Newark, N.J., tonight by

PERSONAL MESSAGE FROM JOSEPH D. SACCOMAN

Republican Candidate for City Judge

City Court is the front line of justice, and, as such, is the place where the average man with legal difficulties most often seeks just remedies.

To truly serve the people of Kingston, City Court must keep abreast of the economic and social needs of the times. As candidate for City Judge, I believe there are several important innovations of a jurisdictional and procedural nature that should be initiated in order to provide the people with a fair measure of justice.

If elected to the important position of City Judge this November 7th, I pledge myself to seek the following improvements in our Kingston City Court, at no additional tax cost to the people of this city.

1. AN INCREASE IN THE MONETARY JURISDICTION OF SMALL CLAIMS COURT FROM THE PRESENT LIMIT OF $100. As the cost of living rises, it becomes quite apparent that the sum of $100 no longer can be considered a small claim. Yet, the purpose of Small Claims Court is to permit people to seek recovery of minor damages without incurring legal expenses, which in some cases, cost as much as the judgment awarded them. Therefore, to reflect this economic fact of life, I would take steps to have the limit of small claims jurisdiction raised to truly reflect present day economic conditions.

2. ISSUANCE OF EXECUTION ON SMALL CLAIMS JUDGMENTS BY CITY COURT. When a small claim judgment is awarded, it is often necessary to retain a lawyer to secure collection of the judgment at additional expense. This additional expense would be minimized considerably were the Clerk of the City Court empowered to issue an execution at the plaintiff's request.

3. FORMATION OF A CLERGYMAN'S ADVISORY COMMITTEE TO COUNSEL COUPLES APPEARING IN CITY COURT ON CHARGES RESULTING FROM MATRIMONIAL DIFFICULTIES. It is my belief that the goal of justice is a stable society of equal rights, and that punishment is only one tool of the court system. In the case of many matrimonial conflicts that erupt into violence and end up in City Court, I feel that the goal of the Court should be to achieve a solution of the problems and conflicts that cause matrimonial disturbances. For this reason, I would utilize the probatory powers of the City Court to induce married couples to seek counsel from a member of a committee of qualified clergymen of all faiths.

4. INSTITUTION OF A REHABILITATION PROGRAM FOR REPEAT TRAFFIC OFFENDERS. I am also convinced that the imposition of fines alone, is not sufficient to develop safe driving habits. Therefore, I would seek to have established a Safe Driving School for repeat offenders, and use the probatory powers of the City Court to insure attendance and attention to the course. In this manner, I believe that many repeat offenders, who commit traffic violations through unfamiliarity rather than disrespect of the laws, can be reminded and refreshed as to the rules of safe and responsible driving.

5. MAINTAIN A CONTINUING STUDY OF THE CITY COURT AND ITS ADMINISTRATION. I believe that the administration of justice must meet the pace and needs of the times. In order to keep the City Court abreast of modern demands, I would carry out a complete and continuing appraisal of its administration and policies.

Census of Ducks, Geese Is Slated For Major Areas

Albert G. Hall, Chief of the Bureau of Game in the State Conservation Department, said today that a pilot-biologist team will conduct an aerial census of ducks and geese over a 3,000-mile route in New York during the week of November 6-10.

"We're increasingly concerned over the dwindling waterfowl resource," Hall said, "and the survey should reveal important information on population numbers for the various species, which we can compare with previous seasons."

The survey will be made in a small, yellow float-plane (N-601) over all major waterfowl areas in the State including Long Island, the Hudson valley, Lake Champlain, the St. Lawrence and Niagara Rivers, Chautauqua Lake, the marshes along Lake Ontario, the Finger Lakes and the Mohawk valley.

In the past, Hall noted, several hunters have taken potshots at the low-flying survey plane. This fall, the five-day period selected for the aerial census falls between the split-season Upstate (which re-opens Dec. 19) and precedes the opening date of November 21 on Long Island, and will therefore be closed to waterfowl gunning.

Meanwhile, he reminded hunters that canvasbacks and red-heads are still on the protected list, and that bag limits on blacks have been reduced to two a day. He urged all gunners to "learn to identify the ducks before you go out shooting."

Another waterfowl inventory will be flown in January, after the seasons have ended.

Horses Are Automation

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn. (AP)—Gerald Wheelock and his nephew, Dean, have devised a form of automation to snake logs from the forest at their logging site near here. But they have to say "giddy-up" to get it started. They've trained a pair of horses to skid logs out of the woods along the 1,000-foot trail without benefit of reins or a driver. Gerald hooks the logs up to horse No. 1, gives him a gentle pat and off the animal goes to the loading ramp. When No. 1 arrives, Dean starts No. 2 back on the trail for another load. They say the two trained horses save the big expense of tractors and loaders to get the pulpwood logs out of the woods.

Will Drop Bomb on U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman offered this strategy Thursday for dealing with the Russians:

"I think we ought to tell the Russians where to go and it's a very hot place, and we ought to be ready to take them there if they don't go there."

And why doesn't he think the Russians would "drop the bomb?"

Says Reds Lack Nerve

"Because they haven't got the nerve to do it. They know that we'll lick them and we will."

Truman gave his opinions at a coffee given by the American Newspaper Women's Club, of which Mrs. Truman is an honorary member.

The ex-president and Mrs. Truman, daughter Margaret, now Mrs. Clifton Daniel, and son-in-law Daniel sat at a center table and answered questions.

Truman himself, as it turned out, was back at the executive mansion within two hours after he left at the end of his first overnight stay since his presidential term ended.

Meets With NSC

He was called in for part of a meeting of the National Security Council, spending about 45 minutes with the high-level strategy group.

Truman was as breezy upon arrival back at his old home as he had been at the newsmen's session.

Surrounded by reporters as he entered the lobby, Truman told them in high good humor: "Get out of the way. I've got a date with the President."

Asked the purpose of his return so quickly after saying his goodbye to President Kennedy, he replied: "He told me to come over here, and here I am."

Leaving the session about 11:30 a.m., Truman said he couldn't say a thing—anything said would come from the President.

Truman answered the questions fast. What to do about the Cuban situation? As a private citizen, he said, "Not a damn thing I can do."

Blames Reds for Division

Any real reason for the division of Berlin? Agreements were made at Quebec, Casablanca, Cairo and Tehran, Truman said, and "the Russians didn't carry out the agreements."

Would he participate in the next presidential campaign? "Now what do you think?" Truman asked. "I'm going to do the best I can to elect a Democrat."

No Beds, No Candy*Korean Orphans*Touring America To Make Friends

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — They shun beds and don't like candy. They're bright-eyed, immaculately scrubbed and behave themselves. They sing with the voices of angels.

They're orphans, here to win your hearts.

Six little boys and 26 girls, all between the ages of 8 and 12, are here from South Korea on a 40-city good-will tour of the United States and Canada.

The children are members of the World Vision Korean Orphan Choir. They represent 13,000 orphans in South Korea and sing songs of gratitude and love.

Wide eyes grow wider as the youngsters travel America by bus, happily fulfilling a twin mission:

Thanking Americans and Canadians who have contributed to 151 Korean institutions and helping for contributions to help construction of a 200-bed children's hospital near Seoul where free medical care will be given any orphan or needy child.

Traveling with them are a nurse, dietician, tutor, and American and Korean chaperones.

The aversion to candy and beds is reasonable. The children simply aren't familiar with such luxuries. For a treat, they enjoy pickled vegetables. For sleeping, each has brought his own sleeping bag.

Experts Can't See Any Danger Yet*Bad Actors in Fallout Explained As Strontium, Iodine, Cesium

EDITOR'S NOTE—Three radioactive substances in particular need careful watching as fallout from nuclear testing increases. But at this point, their distribution appears well below the immediate danger level to human health. Last of three articles.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The main bad actor atoms in bomb test fallout are strontium, iodine and cesium.

No, at least not yet; says the U. S. Public Health Service which is keeping a supercautious eye on fallout. Experts meeting last week said they did not foresee any need for protective action even if the Soviets went ahead with their huge explosion.

The watch is maintained because fallout atoms are potentially a hazard, especially if quirk of wind and weather make some localities "hotter" than others.

The test fallout coming from great distance is of possible concern only if it gets inside the body.

Concentrates in Bones

The trouble with strontium 90 is that it concentrates in bones, while iodine concentrates in the thyroid gland. Too much of these atoms might cause cancers of the bone or thyroid, or leukemia.

Cesium 137 becomes generally distributed through the body, including sex glands, where it might cause genetic changes.

How much is too much for humans? No one can answer this, because no one is sure how little radiation it takes to cause harmful effects on the human body.

So, to play it safe, international and U. S. experts have set extremely low maximum doses for daily intake by humans.

Can't Prove It

They think these tiny amounts would be tolerable without harm. They can't prove it. They do know that fallout from tests so far has not gone above these limits.

These limits, as in the case of strontium 90 for example, are at least 100 times less than the amount of strontium required to produce bone cancers in laboratory animals.

Just how much of the bad actor atoms were created by the Soviet monster bombs, and all its current tests, has not been made public. Reason: The Soviets, as well as U. S. bomb testers in the past, have not divulged the make-up of the bombs.

The H-bomb or fusion reaction itself does not create any strontium, cesium, or iodine. These come from the A-bomb or fission reaction in the bomb. And the A-bomb reaction is needed to produce the heat and pressure to make the hydrogen atoms fuse.

Estimates Could Be Off

A general assumption is that half the energy in an H-bomb comes from fission. This estimate could be far off, if the big Soviet H-bomb was "clean"—that is, deriving much less than half its total energy from fission.

One estimate is that each megaton of fission energy produces 110 pounds of byproduct fission atoms. So a 50-megaton bomb, getting 25 megatons of energy yield from fission, would produce 2,750 pounds of some 200 kinds of radioactive atoms at the outset.

Most of these "die" very quickly, and so don't travel far.

Active Many Years

But strontium 90 and cesium 137 remain radioactive for many years. It takes about 27 years for half the original amount to disappear. If taken in food, these atoms can remain active in the body, emitting potentially damaging rays, for a long time.

Iodine 131 has a half-life of eight days. Half of it becomes harmless in eight days. In another eight days, only one quarter of the original amount remains.

If milk became contaminated with iodine, keeping it refrigerated for a month would make it safe to drink, Dr. James Terrill of the Public Health Service points out.

Still Would Be Less

From all bomb tests through 1958, the actual amount of strontium 90 in children's bones, on the average, was about 26 times less than the amount deemed to be harmless if it is in bones. All the Soviet tests might double this—and it would still be about 13 times less than the estimated "safe" amount.

Fallout from tests can produce temporary and sometimes big jumps in the amount of radiation, and the types of atoms, in various localities.

Guide for Protection

As a guide for protection, the Federal Radiation Council has set limits on the daily intake over an entire year, as measured in micromicrocuries of activity.

For strontium 90, this ranges from 200 to 2,000. And for iodine from 100 to 1,000. A micromicrocurie is one millionth of one millionth of a curie, with a curie being equivalent to the radioactivity in one gram (one-twenty-eighth of an ounce) of radium.

The Public Health Service is keeping a daily watch on radioactivity in the air, water and milk last week: "The radiation caused by the Soviet tests will add to the risks of genetic effects in succeeding generations, and possibly to the risk of health damage to some people in the United States."

"At present radiation levels, and even at somewhat higher levels, the additional risk is slight, and very few people will be affected."

FATHER AND SON LIVING ALONE

Q. My mother died several years ago. My father and I live alone. We have a woman come in every day to tidy up the place and also get our dinner but she goes home early in the evening. Under the circumstances, would it be proper to invite a girl friend of mine from out of town to spend the weekend here with us alone, or is it necessary that a woman be present?

A. It would not be proper to invite her to spend a weekend in your house occupied by two men alone. You should ask a woman relative or family friend to come in and act as hostess.

A Widow's Second Marriage

Q. I am a widow and plan to marry a widower next month. It will be a fairly small wedding in the late afternoon with members of both families and friends attending. I had planned to walk up the aisle and have my son give me away. I have been told that it would not be proper for me to walk up the aisle as other brides; that my husband-to-be and I should be seated in the front pew and when the clergyman come out and takes his place on the altar, to get up and walk to the altar. Will you please tell me if this is the correct procedure for a second wedding?

A. You may not wear a bridal veil or have bridesmaids, but you may have a maid (or matron) of honor and walk up the aisle with your son who will give you away.

Boy and Girl at the Movies

Q. A friend of mine told me that when a boy and girl go to the movies together and the only available seats are in the middle of the row, that it is proper for the boy to go first and lead the way to the seats. Will you please tell me if this is correct?

A. Whether the seats are on the aisle or in the middle of the row, she goes first and he then sits beside her.

West Designer Puts Coat-Dress Back In Fashion Parade

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — At least one designer does not underestimate the fury of a woman who cannot, despite her contortions, unzip the back of her dress.

He is Jean Louis, a Frenchman from Hollywood, who brought a box of beautiful models and boxes of new fashion ideas for the debut of his spring collection here today.

One such idea was the "step-in" tunic dress with a panel of buttons marching down the front far enough for easy entry, feet first, eliminating the need for zippers.

Jean Louis' coat-dress is another zipperless style which not only preserves sacroiliacs. It is guaranteed not to deflate those bouffant hairdos which Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy did so much to make popular.

Although it buttons down the front like a coat, the style resemblance ends there. Like other so-called coat dresses introduced at this spring market, the West Coast couturier's are too fitted and belted to be anything else but a dress.

As the show hurried on, the wardrobe progressed from manish suits with bowler hats; to coats narrow at the shoulder and flared wide from the fitted bosom to floral pastel costume suits; to sultry black crape cocktail dresses draped in back; and finally to chiffon and beaded formalwear. Except for those step-in dresses, most of Louis' styling was in retreat. The West Coast couturier obviously appreciates a tanned back, for some backs are scooped so low and wide they nearly eliminate the back bodice of the dress altogether.

NEW ALBANY, Ind. (AP) — A woman telephoned the Floyd County clerk's office asking that her welfare check be left for her at the entrance to the Ohio River bridge here, so she could pick it up on her way to the Churchill Downs race track in Louisville. Request denied.

Joan Marie Heiser, Kenneth Earl Light Exchange Marriage Vows Here October 21

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH EARL LIGHT
(Reynolds photo)

Marriage vows and wedding rings were exchanged on October 21 at a 1:30 p. m. ceremony in St. Catherine Laboure Church in Lake Katrine by Joan Marie Heiser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Heiser of 25 Lawrenceville Street, and Kenneth Earl Light, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Light of West Park. Officiating was the Rev. James McNally.

Mrs. James Sweeney was soloist and Angelo Altomari was organist.

The altar was decorated with gladioli and chrysanthemums and the pews were marked with satin ribbon.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of peau de soie fashioned with a fitted bodice, long sleeves tapered to points over the wrists and a circle neckline. The full skirt, in redingote style, swept back into a circular train. She also wore a princess crown of stylized buds and leaves to which was shirred the wide English illusion veil. She carried a cascade of gladioli, stephanotis and ivy.

The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Gloria Heiser. She wore a gown of peau de soie in azelia pink fashioned with a fitted bodice, mid-length sleeves and a circle neckline. The cocktail length skirt was shaped in teardrop style and she wore a matching crown of nylon braid trimmed with cut crystal beads. The attendants, Mrs. John Loughlin Jr., of West Esopus, and Mrs. Alex Jeffs of Samsonville, wore gowns identical in style to that worn by the honor attendant except in sea green.

Nancy Misasi Exchanges Nuptial Vows With Joseph John Gambino at St. Joseph's, Glasco

Miss Nancy Carol Misasi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Misasi of Glasco, wed Joseph John Gambino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gambino Sr., of Saugerties, Sunday, Oct. 29 at 2 p. m. in St. Joseph's Church, Glasco. Officiating during the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Archibald Dunn, pastor.

Patrick Buonfiglio was the organist and Theresa Sasso sang "Ave Maria." Mums and carnations decorated the church for the occasion.

Mr. Misasi gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a silk satin full length gown. The fitted bodice had a natural design of Alencon lace beaded with seed pearls and crystals and long sleeves ending in points at the wrists. The cathedral length skirt designed with princess lines in front, accented with appliques of Alencon lace, and side drapes which were gathered to a back bustle. A queen's crown of seed pearls and crystals held a fingertip veil of French silk illusion. She carried a white orchid with stephanotis and pearls on a lace covered prayer book.

The bride's sister, Donna, served as maid of honor in an emerald green brocade ballerina length gown styled with scoop neckline and three quarter length sleeves. A satin pleated cummerbund was accented with rosettes in back. A circular veil was held by a scalloped queen's crown. She carried green and white pompons with white ribbons.

The bridesmaids wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor. Serving were Francine Misasi of Glasco, the bride's cousin, and Gail Mayone, also of Glasco, the bridegroom's cousin. Judith Qualieri of Kingston and Nancy Carpino of Glasco were flower girls. They wore white brocaded full length gowns in a style identical to those worn by the attendants. They also wore queen crowns of tulle and lilies of the valley with circular veils. They carried green and white mums in arm baskets.

Raymond Sarkies of Glasco served as best man. Ushers were Fred Costello of Glasco, the bride's cousin, and Ronald Gambino of Saugerties.

Daniel Parisi of Glasco was the ringbearer.

Approximately 250 guests were entertained at a reception given in The Capri Restaurant.

The bride was graduated from Saugerties and the Albany Colona Beauty School. She is employed by Joseph's Beauty Salon in Saugerties. Her husband was graduated from St. Mary's School in Saugerties and the Schenectady Barber School. He is a barber at Frank's Barber Shop on Delaware Avenue, this city.

For her wedding trip to Florida, the bride wore a brown-belt suit with tangerine feather hat, brown accessories and a corsage of white orchids and stephanotis.

Mr. and Mrs. Gambino will reside in Glasco.

Sea Launching Less Expensive, Say Supporters

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP) — The Navy has launched a second-hand rocket.

The 17-foot Aerobee missile was fired from the sea off Point Mugu Thursday, just nine days after being used in a similar experiment.

The rocket soared to 5,000 feet, then parachuted back to earth. Supporters of the water-launch system say rockets could thus be launched almost any place in the sea, at remote distances from inhabited areas, and without the vast expense of fixed pads.

A Navy landing craft towed the Aerobee three miles to sea. It was fueled as it floated horizontally in the ocean, then fired remotely by a radio signal.

Await Court Word Talks Adjourned In Mack Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiations to end the eight-day-old strike at three Mack Truck plants were adjourned Thursday night to await court action on a company claim that members of the United Auto Workers Union engaged in illegal picketing.

E. A. Lewis, vice president for industrial relations of the Mack Co., said the adjournment had been requested by the union.

The company has asked the court to look into picketing at the Allentown, Pa., plant on the grounds it was illegal mass picketing.

Lewis said after tonight's adjournment that "the union has no real desire to reach a prompt settlement which would ensure a new agreement and immediate resumption of production at the company's three struck plants."

The union was unavailable for comment.

The union struck Mack plants at Somerville, N.J., and Corland, N.Y., in addition to Allentown. Some 6,000 workers are idled.

A major issue in the negotiations is a union demand that workers have a right to transfer to any other Mack production plant when the production site is moved.

16-21 Proposal Would Withhold Names of Youths Until Convicted

BALDWINVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—The mayor of this Central New York village says he has recommended that village police withhold the names of arrested youths until they are convicted of a crime.

Major James Van Wie said Thursday: "I want to give our children a break," he said. "We don't know whether they're guilty or not and I don't want them blackballed immediately upon their arrest."

Van Wie's proposal includes youths 16 to 21. There is no state law that bars police from giving out the name, address and age of a youth between those ages. Names of youths under 16 may be withheld.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Poor old television just can't win. This year, all networks have tried to schedule their so-called "adult" shows in late evening time spots to avoid criticism about offending tender ears and susceptible young minds.

So now new complaints are rolling in—and quite logically—from grown-up viewers who can't sit up until all hours on week-day nights.

Just about everything stimulating in TV starts at 9 p. m., and more likely at 10. For millions of people who must be in their offices before 9 a. m. this means making a decision between a required full night of sleep and missing the show.

The 10 p. m. hour when NBC's "Sing Along with Mitch" turns up on Thursdays is resulting in loss of many viewers, particularly the youngsters who enjoyed the song fest as much as the older crowd. The Miller show is going great guns, but if it were set in an earlier time spot, it might emerge as the number one program on the air.

Recommended weekend viewing:

Tonight — "Golden Anniversary," CBS, 8:30-9:30 (Eastern Standard Time) — James Arness, Art Carney, Nanette Fabray, Tony Randall in a musical revue; "Dinah Shore Show," NBC, 9:30-10:30—variety with Dean Martin and Donald O'Connor.

Saturday — "Have Gun, Will Travel," CBS, 9:30-10—folk singer Odetta makes her acting debut.

Sunday — "Meet the Press," NBC, 6-6:30—Prime Minister Nehru of India, guest; "20th Century," CBS, 6-6:30 — "Al Smith," biographical documentary; "Music of the 30's," NBC, 10-11—A musical memoir of the period with Paul Whiteman and Count Basie.

Consultant Says Education Dept. Slows Up Progress

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —A consultant for the State Education Department has accused the department of slowing educational progress by what he called a "mildly negative" attitude toward change.

Dr. Henry M. Brickell, who is preparing a report on teaching practices in the state, said Thursday that textbook publishers were more influential in bringing about changes than educators.

Brickell, who also is assistant superintendent of schools at Manhasset, L.I., said members of the lower echelons of the Education Department were inclined to reject new ideas, while "affirmativeness increases as you go up the hierarchy" in the department.

He described the influence of textbook publishers as "very, very powerful." Publishers, he said, early pick up new ideas and then "many schools move with them."

Brickell gave a preview of his report to 80 school administrators at a meeting sponsored by the Capital Area School Development Association.

Receives a Letter

Hoople Returns After A Long, Lost Weekend

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
(Deflated Egotist)

Egad! Just two mornings ago this columnist received a letter addressed to Mellon Head! It's not bad enough that Hoople the great has to be receiving such letters but the informer (a loyal Saugerties rooster) has the colossal nerve to spell Mellon Head wrong. Harumph!

Anyway, your correspondent had a lost weekend. Of 20 games selected, only 11 were tabbed correctly and nine were called wrong. That makes a total of 69 right and 31 wrong for the season, a very splendid record indeed.

Those Sawyer rooters from up 9W way can put down their ball and chain. I will tab the Seither dandies to rap Roosevelt 34-7, and clinch the Dutchess County Scholastic league championship. Al Hrdlicka, who has a name like a football player, will be too much for those Presidents to stop.

Eddie Witko calls me from a local hospital where he is recuperating from an upset stomach, to apologize for his Ontario Indians, who were trounced last week by Rondout Valley.

Witko will have a setback after reading in this column that Ontario will be scalped, 34-6, by those flying Hugenots of New Paltz. Harumph!

Here's a four star special. Kingston High will not lose nor win this week. How? Simple. The Maroon boys are off after their hair raising escapade at Poughkeepsie.

Well, now to go on with the forecast. I have a special meeting tonight at the Owl's Club. It seems the corner pocket of the pool table has been tampered with and they want this observer to find the culprit. Ahem!

Orange Quarterback Set for Pitt Contest

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—"This is definitely not buddy-buddy week. Personally, this is my revenge game."

Dave Sarette, Syracuse University's 6-foot, 180-pound quarterback, made the remark Thursday, and said he looked forward to the Orange's football game against Pitt here tomorrow.

It was the interception of a Sarette pass and a fumble by half-back Ernie Davis that helped Pitt to a 10-0 win over Syracuse last year, breaking a 16-game Orange win streak.

Syracuse, strengthened by having its original starting backfield ready for action, is favored by the experts. The Orange season record is 4-2.

Colgate, looking for its fifth straight victory, is favorite over Lehigh at Bethlehem, Pa. Cornell, 1-4 for the season, will meet Columbia, the Ivy League's second-place team, at Ithaca.

Davis is within 68 yards and one touchdown of Syracuse career rushing and total points records set by Jim Brown, now with the Cleveland Browns.

Orange coach Ben Schwartzwalder will have his regular backfield of Sarette, Davis, Dick Easterly and Gary Fallon, but injuries have reduced the team's backfield depth.

Many Problems

Pitt, with a 2-4 season record, has injury problems too. But junior Jim Traficant, the Panthers' standout quarterback, is expected to start.

Colgate, which has won four straight, after an opening-game loss to Cornell, was expected to feel the loss of starting backs Jim Heilman and John Ciocari, both sophomores, who were sidelined with injuries.

They were two of the 15 players coach Alva Kelley credited with helping the surprising Red Raiders most this season.

Lehigh has a 4-2 record. Cornell will go against Columbia with a revamped lineup in an attempt to improve its 1-4 record for the season.

Coach Tom Harp may have halfback George Telesh, out with injuries for three weeks, but four other starters might not be able to play. Starting tackle Bernie McHugh is sidelined, and guard Carmine DiGiorgio, end Ken Hoffman and fullback Tony Pascual are doubtful starters.

Columbia's season record is 3-2.

Kingston Is Idle Until Nov. 11 Tilt With Middletown

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Though Kingston High players are idle this week preparing for their battle with unbeaten Middletown next Saturday, the schoolboys still have a good slate on the schedule, the last big week of the fading season.

Saugerties High will attempt to clinch a tie for a second straight DCSL title with an engagement at Roosevelt. New Paltz can capture the UCAL championship with a home tilt against Ontario.

In other contests, Middletown is at Union-Endicott, Liberty plays at Rondout Valley, Walkkill at Marlboro, Highland vs. Wappingers Falls at Riverview Field in Poughkeepsie, Beacon at Poughkeepsie and Arlington at Cardinal Farley Military Academy.

A look at the top tussles:

SAUGERTIES AT ROOSEVELT—Off comparative scores, the Sawyers are rock ribbed favorites. However, Roosevelt has been good on some occasions and the team may be up for this one after absorbing a defeat at Cardinal Farley last week. Al Hrdlicka and company figure to record another and a second consecutive crown.

ONTARIO AT NEW PALTZ

—The point happy Hugenots should win this one without undue difficulty. Ontario hasn't won a league game and looked very sluggish last week against Rondout. New Paltz was impressive in hammering Walkkill into submission. Chalk up another for Bill Russell's warriors.

LIBERTY AT RONDOUT VALLEY

—The Indians are the second best club in the UCAL, having bowed, 7-0, to New Paltz. Of course, Rondout is tough all the time, a tribute to the coaching of Chick Meehan. This one should be close from start to finish but the edge is to the visitors.

HIGHLAND VS. WAPPINGERS

—Coach Bob Relyea's outfit was much the superior against Saugerties than was Wappingers so with this in mind, the Highlanders are favored. A second place finish is not unlikely for Highland. Wappingers can recapture some of the glories of a disappointing season with a win in this one.

MIDDLETOWN AT UNION-ENDICOTT

—Another mismatch with the Middles figuring to come home with a sixth consecutive win. Only Kingston and Port Jervis will be in the way of the team's first perfect season in a long time. Billy Kindberg, Ron Smith and company figure to score as they please against the home side.

BEACON AT POUGHKEEPSIE

—This one will be played on Sam J. Killoch day and the Pioneers will try to win this one for their coach. Poughkeepsie played its best game of the season against Kingston and needs another good performance to trim the Beaconites.

In the other contests on the slate, Marlboro and Walkkill are rated a tossup and Arlington is favored over the Cardinal Farley Military Academy Cadets.

Boston Defeats Montreal, 5-2; Rangers Beaten

Boston's rookie-dominated Bruins, National Hockey League patsies in the early weeks of the season, are suddenly making themselves felt.

The Bruins, who failed to win and managed only one tie in their first eight games, knocked off league-leading Montreal 5-2 Thursday night.

It was the second straight loss for the mighty Canadiens, who didn't lose in their eight.

Despite the loss, the Canadiens retained their one-point hold on first place as runner-up New York was stopped in Detroit 1-0.

Andre Pronovost, once with the Canadiens, struck for two Boston goals as the Bruins blew a 2-0 first period lead, fell into a tie then rushed out in front again.

Detroit used a spectacular defense, good work by goalie Terry Sawchuk and Gordie Howe's goal to thwart the Rangers' bid to regain the No. 1 spot.

Deer Take in the Adirondacks Much Bigger Than Last Season

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Hunters good supply in southern section, woodcock hunting fair only. Flight birds late this year. Waterfowl hunting discouraging so far, but things look promising for diving ducks (mostly scaup) with early flights arriving.

Region 2 (Albany, Catskills, Chautauque, Chemung, Schuyler, Steuben)

Plentiful game but light hunting pressure, probably due to unseasonably warm weather. Preliminary reports indicate substantial turkey kill (Oct. 23-27). Pheasant hunting somewhat better than last year. Jacksnipe, fair to abundant. Woodcock hunting improved, with arrival of some light birds. Good success on geese. Duck hunting fair to good in some regions.

Region 3 (Broome, Cayuga, Chenango, Cortland, Madison, Otsego, Tioga, Tompkins)

Hunting pressure surprisingly low. Only duck hunters seem to be out in usual numbers, and their success has dropped after good opening. Grouse hunting improving with leaves down; birds abundant. Pheasant populations scattered, with prospects fair if you have a good dog. Ground cover still too high for rabbit hunting.

Region 4 (Herkimer, Jefferson, Lewis, Oneida, Oswego, St. Lawrence)

"Comfortable" hunting conditions with daytime temperatures in the 40s. Heavy foliage still prevails in lower elevations. Heavy hunting for deer on opening day, but now has dropped off. Good bear hunting in northern section. Waterfowl hunting poor on inland marshes, fair on Lake Ontario and St. Lawrence, and good in northern part of region. Pheasants hard to flush; fair success.

Region 5 (Clinton, Essex, Franklin)

Deer take up over last year, and hunting prospects continue good. Foliage off trees. Best bear hunting prospects are in eastern Clinton and Essex counties, where acorn and wild apple keeping bears on the move feeding. For waterfowl, slow on black ducks, but bluebills moving in. Grouse hunting good in Champlain Valley; slow elsewhere with birds scattered. Fair shooting for woodcock, with flight birds moving in.

Region 6 (Fulton, Hamilton, Saratoga, Warren, Washington)

Foliage down and woods noisy. Deer-hunting and deer take both up from last year in northern zone counties. Definitely more bear being taken so far than in any previous year on record. Grouse numbers up, but few hunters. Few woodcock taken, with no flight birds in Waterford hunting poor. Fair success with pheasants in southern Saratoga County. Gray squirrels still abundant, but many being taken.

Region 7 (Albany, Columbia, Delaware, Greene, Montgomery, Otsego, Rensselaer, Schoharie)

Fair to good hunting conditions, with squirrels and rabbits taken in biggest numbers. Good success on grouse in Columbia and Delaware counties; rabbit hunting good in Albany, Greene and Schoharie; pheasant hunting fair in Columbia and Rensselaer. Not much success on woodcock or waterfowl. Woods are dry and noisy, with fire hazard continuing.

Region 8 (Dutchess, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan, Ulster, Westchester)

Excellent conditions with hunting pressure high. Hunter use of Dutchess and Putnam cooperative areas at all-time high last week-end. Pheasant take ahead of last

Bowl Bids May Be On The Line In Weekend College Grid Tilts

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Before the beginning of the college football season, Nov. 4 was pencilled off as the day of decision—and nothing has changed as the nation's top teams battle each other Saturday in key conference battles that may also have a lot to say about the post-season bowl spots.

Michigan State, the nation's No. 1 team and undefeated in five games, meets once-beaten but mighty Minnesota in a Big Ten battle, while Mississippi, Equally as mighty and ranked second nationally takes on its old nemesis Louisiana State in the Southeastern Conference's biggest game of the year.

That is just a sample and to get things under way, resurgent University of Miami (3-3) tackles the Georgia Bulldogs tonight. The Hurricanes at last have soph quarterback George Mira back in top physical shape. He missed two of Miami's losses but came back last week in so-so condition to help upset North Carolina 10-0.

Win on Field Goals

The Bulldogs, also 3-3, are a bunch of opportunists. Their three victories have been by the margin of Durwood Pennington's field goal kicking, 17-14 over South Carolina, 10-7 from Mississippi State and 16-15 last week against Kentucky.

Both Michigan State and Mississippi have statistical edges, but it is hard to find solid support for both. The Spartans have a powerful ground offense, ranked fifth nationally, and a defense that has allowed only one touchdown and a field goal, and has shut out its three Big Ten opponents.

Ole Miss is second nationally in total offense and passing offense and has a defense that is rated fourth as Coach John Vaught's three units have little to distinguish between them, performance-wise.

Minnesota, also 3-0 in the Big Ten, is led by quarterback Sandy Stephens, the conference's total offense leader. Its defense is third best nationally, but rated tenth against rushing.

LSU (No. 6), was the last team to beat Mississippi—21 games ago—and last year spoiled a perfect Ole Miss season with a 6-6 tie. Both are 3-0 in the SEC, but LSU is not as strong offensively and its defense, while tough, is still not rated as highly as that of the Rebels.

In a companion Big Ten thriller fifth-ranked Ohio State, also 3-0 in the conference, meets ninth-ranked Iowa.

Longhorns Face SMU

Third-ranked Texas, the nation's No. 1 offensive unit, takes on Southern Methodist in a Southwest Conference game, looking for its seventh victory without a loss. Alabama, ranked fourth and atop the SEC with 4-0, meets conference foe Mississippi State. And Georgia Tech (No. 7) plays Florida in another SEC game.

The Big Eight conference has its big one this year when unbeaten Colorado, ranked eighth with a 5-0 overall mark, and 4-0 in league play, battles for first place against Missouri (5-0-1).

In inter-sectional games, Navy plays at Notre Dame and Duke, the Atlantic Coast leader, goes against Michigan. Syracuse and Pitt tangle in the East's top game while Rutgers, the nation's only other major undefeated team at 5-0, plays Lafayette.

Two Youngsters Lead Golf Tourney

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Two youngsters led 15 par busters into the second round of the $10,000 Almaden Open Golf Tournament today.

Larry Mowry and Johnny Lotz each shot 5-under-par 67s Thursday.

Mowry, 24, is assistant pro at Bonita, Calif. Lotz, 21, one of three amateurs among the sub-par belters, is a San Jose State College student.

Defending champ Charlie Siford of Los Angeles was one of five pros scoring 69, sharing third spot with Jim Ferrier, Jack O'Keefe, Chico Miazur and Bob McCallister.

The biggest names in the field, Bob Rosburg and Ken Venturi, were back in the bushes. Rosburg's par 72 got him into a 10-way tie for 16th place. Venturi, winner here in 1959, had 73.

year, and squirrel take high. Cottontails abundant in Dutchess. Grouse take starting to slide, chiefly because of dry weather and noisy woods. Quail take up from last year in Orange and Putnam. In Westchester County, where archery season underway, no deer reported taken.

Donut King Remains Choice In Rich Garden State Stakes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The world's richest horse race—the $302,385 Garden State—shaped up as virtually a match race between Donut King and Crimson Satan at Garden State Park in Camden, N.J. Saturday, but you never can tell.

This golden gallop for 2-year-olds, the race that last year put Carry Back on the road to glory and riches, tops Saturday's thoroughbred racing program and will be televised nationally by Sports Network, Inc. from 4:30 to 5 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

Donut King, a brown colt by Determine out of Strayed by Bull Dog and owned by Californian Vern Mitchell, is the morning line favorite in the mile and one-sixteenth Garden State. Crimson Satan, a chestnut colt by Spy Song-Papila, by Requebro, is the close second choice. He is owned by Pete Salmen Sr.'s Crimson King Farm.

Ten More Starters

Ten other colts are expected to contest the issue, Green Ticket, Najin, In Force, Point Park, Padded Cell, Su Ka Wa, Decidedly, Stinson Beach, Obey and Pinsetter. The latter two will race as an entry.

Of these Najin is the only one who has not raced in the East.

The colt finished second to Royal Attack in the Durante Handicap at Bay Meadows (Calif.) last week and was flown East especially for Saturday's race.

The winner will get $181,419 with $60,473 going to the runner-up, $30,336 to third and $15,118 to fourth.

U. S. Boxers Suffer Shutout Against Britain

LONDON (AP)—"We used to lead the world in boxing," said Coach Bert Taylor today after his American amateur fighters suffered a humiliating 10-0 defeat to Britain in the opener of a European tour.

"Perhaps last night's result will make some people at home think a little more seriously about the sport."

The British rout of a U.S. team that included five reigning AAU champions left Taylor, as well as his unhappy fighters, more than a bit shaken.

Only four of the 10 matches went the scheduled three-round distance. When it was over, one U.S. fighter was in a hospital, two others had concussions and one of these also needed several stitches to close a bad cut inside his mouth.

"Our boys got together in New York only last weekend, and they have had no chance to do any serious training since arriving here," Taylor said.

The only American fighters who lasted the full three rounds—only to lose on points—were bantamweight Johnny Cesspooch of Fort Duchesne, Utah; light welterweight Jim Caldwell of Shawano, Wis.; welterweight Phil Baldwin of Muskegon Heights, Mich., and lightweight Willie Marcus of Pontiac, Idaho.

Light middleweight Roy McMillan of Toledo was taken to a hospital for x-rays of damaged ribs. Cornelius Perry of Philadelphia, had a concussion and a bad mouth cut after he was knocked unconscious for four full minutes. Featherweight Ralph Wright of North Provo, Utah, had a slight concussion.

Back in the thick of the fight for the Central New York Soccer league championship, the Kingston Sport Club will host a dangerous Poughkeepsie Blue and White team, Sunday, 2:30 p. m., at Dietz Stadium. The locals are second in the circuit but only by virtue of having played one less game than league leading Troy Sports Club.

In other Sunday matches, Albany Athletic is at the Schenectady Sons of Italy, Albany Sports Club plays at Schenectady Football Club, Little Falls is at Utica, Poughkeepsie Italians at Endicott and Troy Sports Club at Poughkeepsie K of C.

Last Sunday, the local aces were at their best against Endicott. A repeat performance is necessary against the strongest of the three Poughkeepsie entries. Manager Bob Graves expects Reiner Schwedel to straighten out his immigration papers in Toronto over the weekend and be here in time for the game.

The standings:

Team	W	T	L
Troy S. C.	6	1	1
Kingston S. C.	6	0	1
Albany A. C.	6	0	1
Endicott	5	0	2
Schenectady S. of I.	5	0	3
Poughkeepsie B. and W.	4	1	3
Little Falls	3	1	4
Schenectady F. C.	3	0	5
Albany S. C.	1	2	3
Poughkeepsie K of C	1	0	6
Utica	1	0	6
Poughkeepsie Italians	1	0	6

The league will hold its monthly meeting at Germania Hall, Poughkeepsie, this Saturday night. Changes in the by-laws will be made and the occurrences at the recent Kingston-Poughkeepsie K of C game will be discussed.

Dallas, Boston To Meet Tonight In AFL Contest

Dallas plays at Boston tonight in a game that might hand the Western Division championship of the American Football League to San Diego.

Dallas is second to San Diego but 4½ games back. If the Texans lose they will be five behind.

Sunday San Diego clashes with New York, one of the clubs tied for the lead in the Eastern Division. The Chargers, who are unbeaten for the season, then would have to take down New York to clinch the championship because they would be ½ game ahead with only five to play.

The Dallas-Boston game is a grudge affair since the Patriots went into the Dallas backfield last Sunday and knocked off the Texans 18-17 on a last-second field goal by Gino Castelli.

Should San Diego beat New York, regardless of how the Dallas-Boston game comes out, there could be a new leader or leaders of the Eastern division. Houston, the 1960 league champion, is only one-half game out of first place and the Oilers meet Denver at Denver Sunday.

A Houston victory plus a New York loss plus a Dallas victory over Boston would shove the Oilers into first place. But should Boston win, it could take over the lead in the event of a New York defeat and Houston would be second.

The only clubs that have nothing to worry about championship-wise go together at Buffalo Sunday. It will be Oakland, last in the Western Division, vs. Buffalo, last in the Eastern.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS OF SAFETY

Published in the Interest of Making and Keeping Shooting a Safe Sport

Recommended by Sporting Arms and Ammunition Manufacturers' Institute and ITHACA GUN CO., INC.

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the first rule of gun safety.
2. Guns carried into camp or home, or when otherwise not in use, must always be unloaded, and taken down or have actions open; guns always should be carried in cases to the shooting area.
3. Always be sure barrel and action are clear of obstructions, and that you have only ammunition of the proper size for the gun you are carrying. Remove oil and grease from chamber before firing.
4. Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble; keep the safety on until you are ready to shoot.
5. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger; know the identifying features of the game you intend to hunt.
6. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot; avoid all horseplay while handling a gun.
7. Unattended guns should be unloaded; guns and ammunition should be stored separately beyond reach of children and careless adults.
8. Never climb a tree or fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun; never pull a gun toward you by the muzzle.
9. Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water; when at target practice, be sure your backstop is adequate.
10. Avoid alcoholic drinks before or during shooting.

 District Would Be Like Serpent
 JEFFERSONVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton says Congressional reapportionment planned by Republicans would establish a district that would "wind ... across three-quarters of the state...just to knock me out of the House."
 The Democratic congressman from Schenectady said the district would "wind like a serpent" from west of Rochester east to the Schenectady County line.
 Details of the redistricting plan, which will be acted upon by the GOP-controlled Legislature at a special session opening Nov. 9, have not been revealed by Republican leaders. The state will lose two Congressional seats, however, because of a decline in population as reflected in the 1960 census, and it is known that Stratton's 32nd District is to be broken up.
 Stratton said Thursday night at a dinner meeting of the Town of Callicoon Democratic Committee in Sullivan County that Gov. Rockefeller should "make public the full, sordid details of his re-apportionment plans...before Election Day instead of afterward."

NAMESAKE — Italian film actress Luisa Rivelli holds leopard cub at Rome Zoo. Cub was named Luisa. It's custom to name new arrivals after leading actresses.

DO YOU REMEMBER
 By SOPHIE MILLER
 I see the Bank of Savings main branch, on Park Avenue South and 22nd Street, New York City is having an antique and historical display, according to the New York World-Telegram and Sun of Friday, Oct. 20.
 One item is an Oriental Low-stuff plate, originally owned by DeWitt Clinton, an organizer and director of the bank. Another item is a small leather-covered brass nail-studded trunk in which one of the bank's founders carried deposits home each evening for safekeeping. A collection of mechanical banks and canceled checks with the signatures of many U. S. Presidents are also in the exhibit.
 In the Rondout Savings Bank, Mill Street and Broadway in Kingston, I have a few photographs from my collection on the subject. This is Rondout. They can be seen by anyone during banking hours. One is a picture of Broadway in 1947 taken with the Christmas lights. Then there is a picture postal card of about the same location back in 1910. August F. Voteller had his plumbing shop at 93 Broadway. Barney Mann's fruits and vegetables can be seen displayed outside 91 Broadway. William D. Costello's carpentry shop is at 89 Broadway, and Frank Mooney's garage sign can be seen at 81 Broadway. Mr. Mooney lived in East Kingston at the time. The open summer trolley car is there and the tracks. Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Delamater's bakery is at 88 Broadway, and the handsome Stock and Cordts building.
 There is a picture postal card of the High Road, in Rondout, and one can see little change has taken place, since the horse and buggy days which is shown on a postal card dated Oct. 7, 1912. Those who worked on the shipyards remember the Kingston Ship Building Corp., now the Island Dock in Rondout. The picture was taken March, 1919. If you look over the long building you can see the support being built for the Port Ewen side of the Rondout Creek Bridge. A side-wheel is in the Rondout Creek, which looks to many like the famous Norwich but is the Oswego. There is also a picture of the Kingston Point Park Pagoda overlooking the Hudson River.
 When I look back, the photographs we could have taken and saved with our dollar box camera. I remember the Cornell Hose Co. when they had horses and raced down Abert Street, and then made a turn up or down Broadway, with the horse's hoofs sending out sparks. I wish I had taken a photo of Michael Edwards of Meadow Street when he came out with his big sprinkler wagon and horses, and pressed the lever for his paying customers. There were drinking fountains for man and beast. One was at the corner Spring and Broadway where a horse could drink from one side and the children and grown ups drank from the other side. The hurdy-gurdy man and the monkey, the Black Maria (patrol car—horse driven, I think.) The trolley-car snow-plough after a heavy snow-fall, all would have been good subjects. Perhaps readers have some of these.

 ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Physicians must maintain an effective relationship with patients despite the need to pursue the latest scientific knowledge, the chief physician of a Boston hospital says.
 Dr. George W. Thorn, physician-in-chief of Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, said Thursday night the patient-physician relationship is the "vital and essential cornerstone of comprehensive medical care."

More Than Skin Deep

Among the clues to a happy marriage

Here's one we never should disparage:

That it helps a lot when a man's affection

Outlasts the bloom of his wife's complexion.

—S. Omar Barker.

Jim—What happened to your face?

Joe—Had a little argument with a fellow about driving in traffic.

Jim—Why didn't you call a cop?

Joe—He was a cop.

Mother—Willie, I hear you've been fighting with one of those boys next door and have given him a black eye.

Willie—Yes'm. You see, they're twins and I wanted some way to tell them apart.

Sign on a bank at Mooresville, Ind., asks: Why go elsewhere to be gypped? Come here.

Smith and Jones met on the way to the morning commuters' train.

Smith—Whaddya say we get our wives together tonight and have a big evening?

Jones—Swell idea. Where'll we leave them?

TIZZY

By KATE OSANN

The best way for housewives to have a few minutes to themselves at the end of the day is to start doing the dishes.

Father—Now I want to put a little scientific question to you, my son. When the kettle boils, what does the steam come out of the spout for?

Son—So that mother can open your letters before you get them.

You'll never get rid of a bad temper by losing it.

Soldier—The bullet struck my head and went careening into space.

Friend—You're being candid about it, anyway.

The way these new diet drinks are going, pretty soon nobody will need teeth except a dentist.

Mercury Drops As Cold Wave Heads Eastward

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The season's first cold wave, moving out of the northern Rockies, whipped across the central part of the nation today, adding a spell of unseasonable warm weather.
The cold air, powered by gusty northwesterly winds, extended from Wisconsin to eastern Oklahoma and northern Texas and headed eastward and southward. Temperatures dropped rapidly as the icy blasts hit sections of the Midwest and West. Readings were 20 to 40 degrees lower than early Thursday from the northern Plains and Upper Mississippi Valley into Colorado, New Mexico, Texas and the West Gulf Coast.
Near zero weather again was reported in northern Montana as temperatures in the teens made it wintry-like as far south as Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado.
Light snow fell in the cold air from Minnesota and northwest Wisconsin into northeast Kansas. More snow piled up in the Dakotas where falls measured nearly a foot in some areas. Rains changed to snow in northeast New Mexico and the Texas Panhandle.
Stormy weather was blamed for at least four deaths. Four men, employees of a San Diego, Calif. electronics firm, were killed Thursday when their light plane crashed in a severe snowstorm near Pueblo, Colo.

Kickoff Meeting Held for 1962 Woodstock Scout Campaign

The Woodstock Boy Scout Campaign for 1962 Rip Van Winkle Council operating funds got underway recently with a kick-off meeting held at the Woodstock School under the chairmanship of Frank Benson. Representing the Rip Van Winkle Council at the meeting were scout executive Alex Macdonald, Hurley, and district scout executive Robert Hensel, Kingston.
Macdonald spoke to the assembled campaigners on the value of Scout training. He also reviewed the services provided to local communities by the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America.
Chairman Benson announced that close to 50 Scout-minded Woodstock residents are engaged as campaigners in a concerted effort to assure the success of the local scout drive.
"These volunteers are fully aware of the necessity to raise sufficient funds to assure the continued growth of the program of the Boy Scouts of America in the Woodstock area and to contribute Woodstock's share for Council services," Mr. Benson stated. These services include the operation of the 500 acre camp, Tri-Mount, year round camping and training reservation in East Jewett, Leadership Training Courses, the operation of several Council and District activities, the maintenance of the Council Scouting Service Center at 260 Fair Street in Kingston, professional Scouting guidance and direction, etc.
Theme of this year's Boy Scout Fund Drive is "Strength in America—Character Counts" according to Chairman Benson.

Patrons Getting Their Mail Under Wrong Addresses

A good percentage of the patrons of the Woodstock Post Office are not receiving mail under the correct address. Postmaster Leon Carey said today.
Some patrons are using just Woodstock, some in the "Gardens" and "Meadows" are using lot numbers instead of street numbers, others old post office box numbers and some RFD numbers. This makes it hard on those clerks sorting mail and during the Christmas rush there will be new help working in the post office, who have no idea where people live.
Patrons can be of great help if they will see that their correct address is used.
Those getting mail by the Mounted Route such as in the Gardens, the Meadows, Bears-ville road, Glasco Turnpike west of Harder Corners, upper and lower Byrdcliffe road, Millstream road, Country Club Lane, Rattormann road, Birch Lane, Desio Lane, Mead Mountain Road or any road off these roads having delivery should use their street address.
All patrons on the foot carrier route must use their street address and all RFD patrons must use R.F.D. Box No. —. In doing this patrons will help the post office to deliver mail quicker and more efficiently.
Last year there were mailed in the Woodstock post office from Dec. 1 to Dec. 25, more than 144,000 pieces of mail and two to three times this amount was received at the Woodstock office from out of town, so you see how important the use of address is.
The annual early bird warnings for mailing Christmas packages abroad was sounded today by Postmaster Leon Carey, who said:
The long sea transit frequently involved in the transmission of parcels by service mail, and customs inspection and other formalities may be subject to in the countries of destination, require that mailings be made as early as possible to assure delivery by Christmas Day.
Surface parcels should be mailed to the following places not later than the dates shown below: South and Central America, Nov. 10; Europe, Nov. 10; Africa, Nov. 1; Near East, Nov. 1.

Foundation Has 16 Applications For Art Awards

The Woodstock Foundation has received 16 applications for this year's two awards of $400 each, to be granted after the Annual Exhibition taking place this Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 4 and 5, from the hours of 1 to 5 p. m. The majority of applications are from artists although there are several literary hopefuls applying also.
The public will have the opportunity to judge the merit of the work on exhibition, not only of those aspiring to this year's awards but also of those who have been Foundation winners in the past.
The foundation however, does not only consider the work the applicants submit but they must consider with equal importance, whether or not the applicant is in a position to be appreciative of financial aid and to what extent they are deserving.
Adding the 18 member board in their decision are groups of judges who act in an advisory capacity. Judges who have become prominent in this field of art and literature will be selected from Woodstock residents.
It is the Foundation's hope that the public response to this year's exhibition will be as enthusiastic as it has been in the past two years. The Foundation grants are obtained from public support and the artists and writers who benefit from these awards are your fellow Woodstockers who are contributing to Woodstock's cultural background.

Ontora P-TA Has Scholarship Drive

For the past several years the generosity and interest of the people in the Ontora Central Schools District has made it possible to establish two annual scholarships which have been awarded on a competitive basis to deserving Ontora High School seniors.
Recipients have been judged on the basis of scholarship, leadership, citizenship and financial need. In addition, a third award has been established to help a senior that intends to work toward a teaching degree.
A committee was formed on Oct. 24 under the sponsorship of the Ontora P-TA to lead the drive for the 1961 fund campaign. Members of the committee include John C. Larson, chairman; Woodstock; Mrs. Alva Buley, Jr., Ashokan; Robert Thornell, Ashokan; Mrs. Edmund Gilligan, Bearsville; Arthur R. Henkel, Boiceville; Herbert Epstein, Chichester; Mrs. Lindsay R. Hoyt, Mt. Pleasant; Mrs. Richard Kahl, Mt. Tremper; Bernard Stahl, Olive Bridge; Harry Miller, Phoenicia; Dr. Samuel Porter, Phoenicia; Harry Allen, Pine Hill; Rudy Frank, Shandaken; Mrs. James Gains, West Hurley; G. Alfred Nussbaum, West Hurley; W. W. Blelock, Jr., Woodstock; Mrs. Gordon F. Anderson, Woodstock; Mrs. Gerald H. Green, Woodstock; Elbert Varney, Woodstock.
In these times of high tuition and high living costs, even nominal assistance from the people of our community could tip the balance in favor of a college education for several talented people, the committee said.
Letters soliciting support will be mailed to members of the Ontora school district during the next week. Residents are reminded to watch for their letters and asked to help several outstanding students prepare for a more productive and useful life through furthering their education at the college of their choice. The committee says that no contribution is too small.

Dinner to Fete Teachers Monday

Luthuli Granted Passport to Oslo For Nobel Award

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP)—The South African government today granted Zulu leader Albert John Luthuli a passport so he can go to Oslo to collect the 1960 Nobel Peace Prize awarded him for his fight against the government's racial segregation policy.
The government said Luthuli would be granted 10 days for his trip. This means he will not be able to accept any of the numerous speaking offers he has had from the United States and Britain.

Luthuli, 61, has been restricted to a native reservation in the eastern province of Natal since the 1960 race riots at Sharpeville. He was banished as leader of the African National Congress, which was later outlawed.
The government previously had spoke disparagingly of the Nobel award to Luthuli and there had been considerable speculation that he would be refused a passport.
The Peace Prize Committee, in announcing the belated 1960 award Oct. 23, cited Luthuli for his advocacy of nonviolent methods in resisting racial segregation. The award includes $43,744 in prize money.

Ex-Greenville Attorney Held On Grand Larceny

A former Greenville attorney, Joseph Malone Jr., 45, who served part of a five-year term for misusing his clients funds, was taken into custody by state police Wednesday at New Hyde Park, L. I., on a sealed indictment charging grand larceny returned by the October Greene County Grand Jury.
Returned by Leeds BCI and Deputy Sheriff Lester Dimmick, Malone was arraigned before County Judge Roy C. Moon where he pleaded not guilty and was later released from Greene County Jail after posting $1,000 cash bond.

Malone was paroled in May after serving part of a two-and-a-half to five-year sentence for using clients funds for his own use and forging signatures. He had been sent to Dannemora and later transferred to Greenhaven Prison. He and his family moved to Long Island when he was released on parole.
The new charges reportedly came about following an audit of the books of Greenville Fire District. A shortage of $3,000 was found. Questioning by authorities of Walter Engels of Greenville, a member of the board of fire commissioners brought out that Engels allegedly had given a check to Malone for $3,000 payable on the National Commercial Bank & Trust Company of Albany to be deposited to the account of the fire district.

It has been charged that Malone cashed the check instead.
